New Directions

The experiences we have in high school are the ones we will remember the most. As teenagers, we are constantly facing paths which lead in new directions. Rider High School did not let us down. It was there for us, not only as a place to get an education, but also, it allowed us to discover ourselves and experience new emotions. We found friends we could confide in, cry to, and share the happy times with. They were there when we made mistakes. Together, we travelled the path that allowed us to create our personality. Although we faced the path together, we became different. Our attitudes and characteristics are unique. There will never be anyone quite like us.

We learned responsibility. When we made committments, we kept them. It did not matter that we had to sacrifice time. We were dedicated. Sometimes we felt as though we could not go on, and that is when we realized that we had a limit. Somehow, though, we managed to keep a constant pace in our search for new directions.

Some chose to push their mental ability to the limit, making the best grades possible. Others were involved in sports, demanding the most of their physical abilities. Still others were part of organizations which kept them moving in a positive direction. Nearly everyone was involved in something different, yet we all were striving for the same end — to be better than ever before.

Let us not forget those of us who were less involved in school. It was not because we chose to be uninvolved; we held the title of "employee." We worked long hours for the minimum wage of 3.35. There was a feeling of independence as we cashed our checks. We were able to reach our goals. We might have been buying our own car or simply just paying for our own lunch. Whatever the case, we enjoyed travelling the paths of the business world.

There were times when it seemed that our lives were not going anywhere. Yet, everything has a purpose. In some way, every experience brings us closer to our goals. Opportunities always exist to participate in new experiences. However, we must search for these opportunities, and upon finding the path in which they lie, follow the path as in leads us in New Directions.

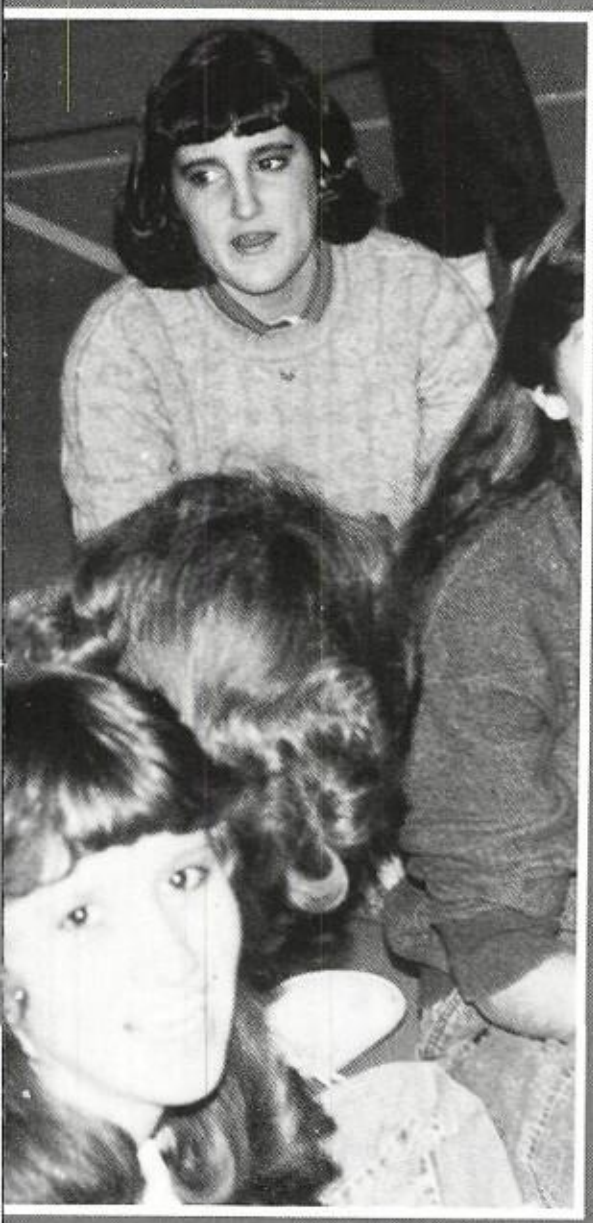
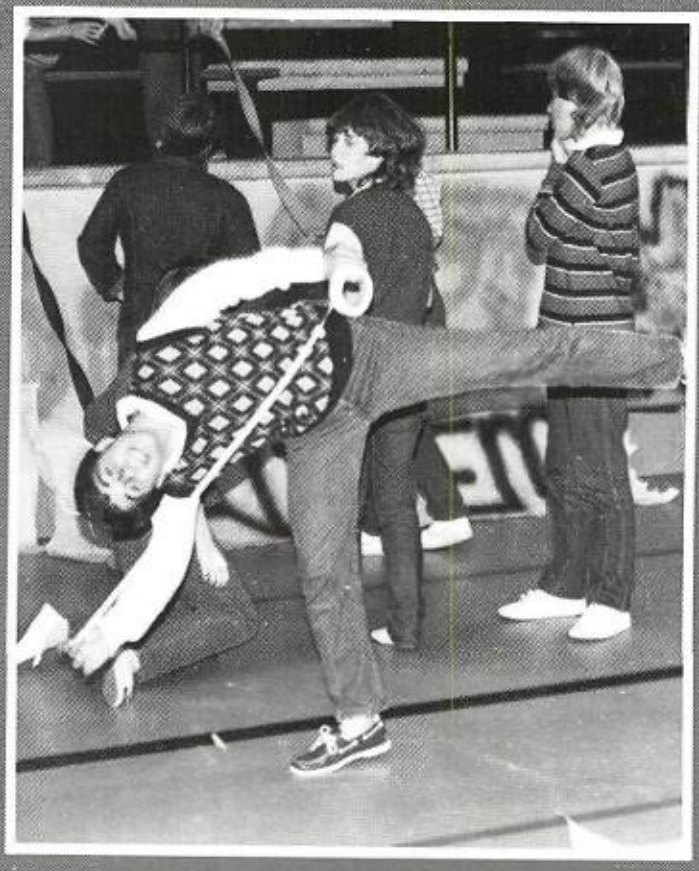
Student Life

Even though academic standards were raised by the addition of essential elements to Rider High, we still found time to be involved in Student Life. We were either fans of sports, or players of the games. We spent time at pep-rallies, the Roundup dance, the Happening, parties, and most of all, with our friends. All this made the task of taking home books a little more bearable. We knew that after we finished our studies, we had the rest of the time to have fun, laugh, and be involved in student life.





College Style Registration Successful Two Years in a Row

Registration, college style, was once more successful, as students went through the process of signing up for classes. The students first went to the auditorium to plan their schedules and then ventured on to the student center to have their schedules approved by the counselors. Then, the race began. Students rushed to the different departments to sign up for their classes before they were full. Through all the excitement and confusion, registration at Rider went well for the students.

Leah Tunnel lends her experience from last year's registration to Jenny Joyner.

What Do You Want to Be?

When You Grow Up

As students start high school, they begin to consider their futures more seriously. They begin to define their goals, and analyze their capabilities. Once their values have been defined, they begin to see the various careers available to them. With their goals and capacities in mind, each student begins to prepare mentally and physically to train and orient himself for the vocation that would most satisfy his particular requirements.

Underclassmen often have difficulty realizing their true desires. When freshmen are asked what they would like to be when they grow up many have absolutely no idea. While other freshmen have set very high goals for themselves, and decide to begin high school and attend one of the vocational schools. At these schools, underclassmen learn the necessary skills required for their pursued job.

Maytag Repairman: This freshman feels that being a Maytag Repairman is a lowly profession, but that it is one he is capable of doing. Logan Terry

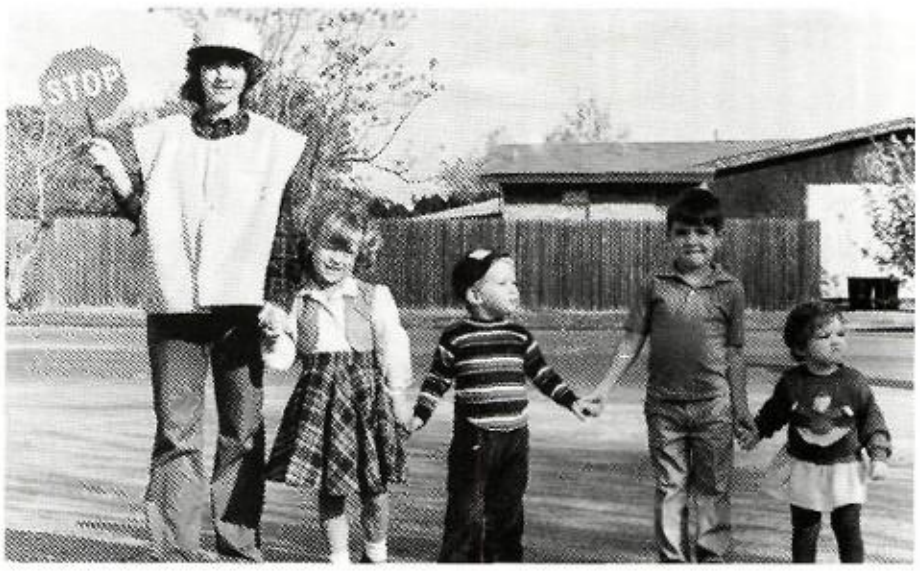
Many sophomores still feel insecure about their futures. Often sophomores, like the freshmen, feel inferior to their upperclassmen peers. For this reason many sophomores lean towards vocations in which they would feel superior and respected.

Disc Jockey: Many juniors take advantage of the opportunity to inform people of their maturity through jobs where they will be heard by many. Chuck Smith

Seniors, the rulers of the school, become power-hungry as they strive to be a success before they enter college. These students set very high goals for themselves, and will do anything to achieve them. Power is a key word in the lives of these students.

President of the United States: Seniors have no problems feeling superior, therefore being elected President would probably be no big deal. Tamara Avery

School Crossing Guard: This sophomore enjoys the respect she receives when helping young children cross the street. Angela Hobbs



Juniors, finally able to call themselves upperclassmen, relax and enjoy their superiority. These students begin to feel carefree, and ready to take on the world. Many times juniors choose careers where they will be able to let the world see their new found notoriety.

Next time your band moves, call Mayflower!

August Apparently Pays Off

In August, while most people are lounging around the pool soaking up some of the last rays of summer, others are at school preparing for the new school year. This preparation includes everything from punting footballs to high kicks, learning new music to practicing new cheers, and, let us not forget the ever-precious air conditioning system.

The Raider football team comes out two weeks before school starts to sharpen their techniques and practice their many drills. These drills, known as two-a-days, are held in the morning and again in the afternoon. The Rider Ranglers also begin practicing in August. They work on their precision timing and on their choreographed routines. The Pride of the Raiders Marching Band begins rehearsing in August to insure a terrific performance for the first football game. The cheerleaders prepare by practicing building pyramids and learning new cheers. They also practice twice each day. The school administration also planned ahead for the coming year by installing an air conditioning system. It is obvious by the Raider's successful year that preparing for the future pays off.

Ouch, you're hurting my sunburn.

Maybe if I fake it Mr. Humphreys won't notice.

There's a special something between us.

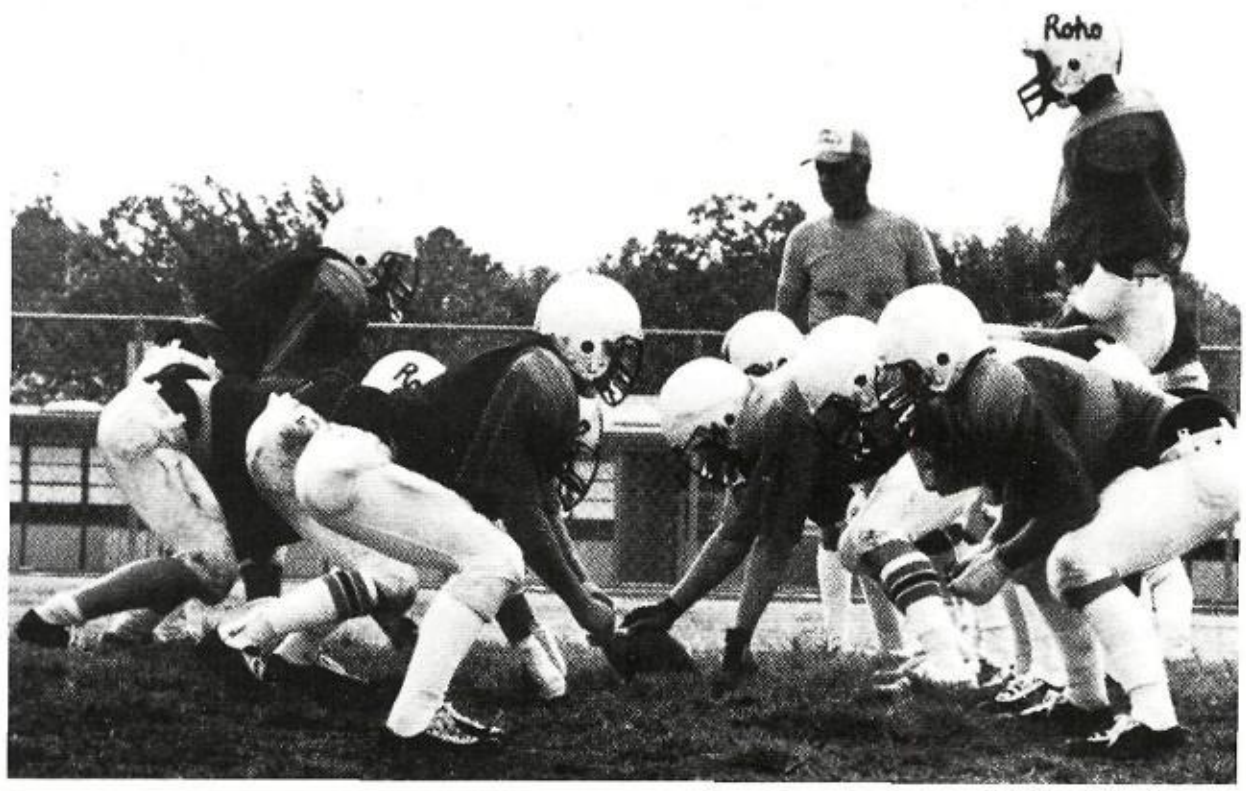
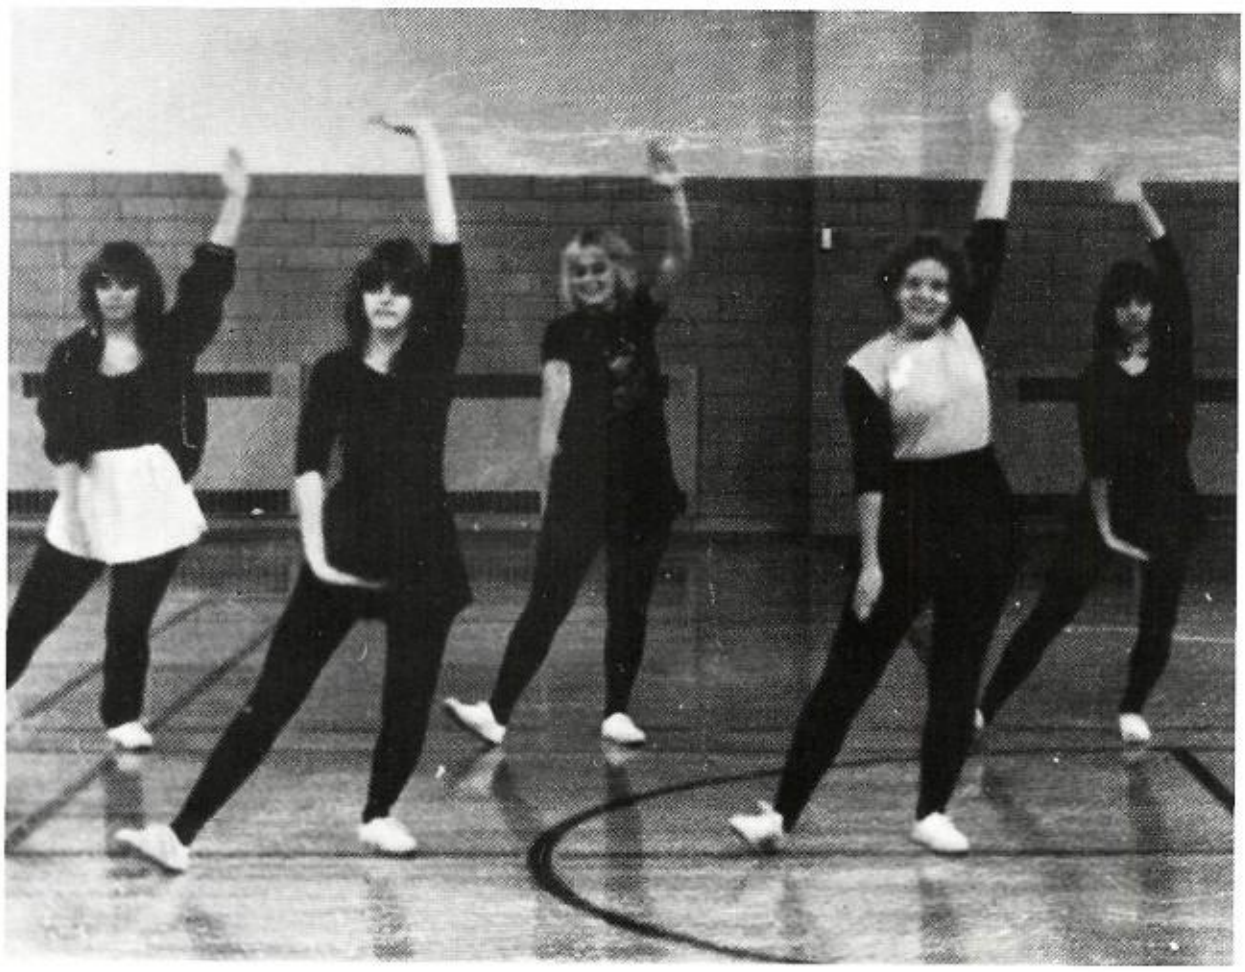
Summer worker provides cool air.





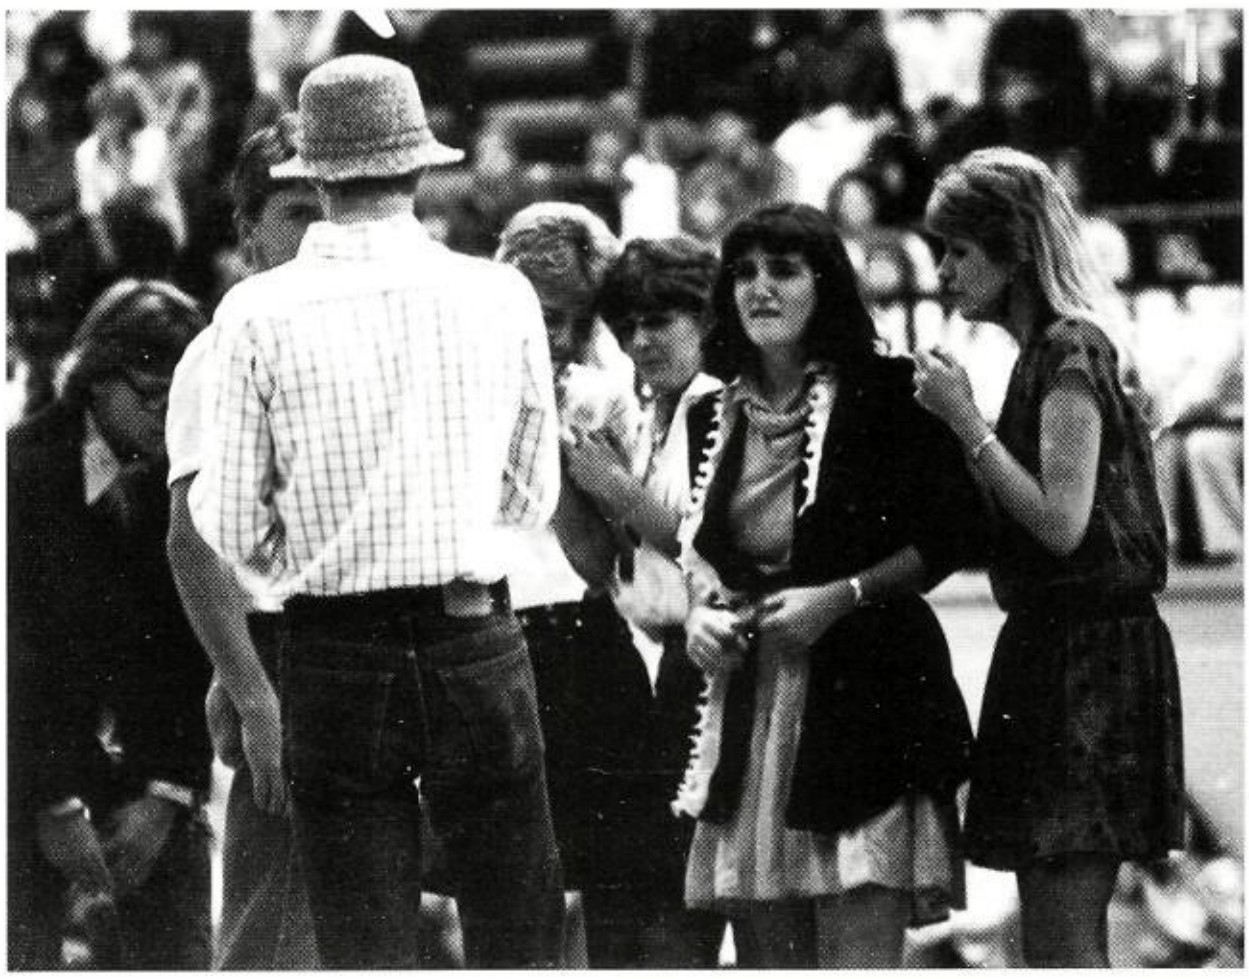
Raise your hand if you're sure . . . you're a Raider.

Ya'll Come to Round Up 85

One of the most popular traditions at Rider High School is Round-Up Week. Boots and Western wear could be seen throughout the halls worn by spirited Raiders during this time. The highlight of the week was the Round-Up Assembly. The assembly was held in the field house and had the theme of "All My Raiders" starring Scorpio, the rock singer, his bopping boppers, the senile doctor, and his family. The "Spirit Specialists" who brought Scorpio back to life were our very own Mr. and Miss Raider nominees.

Mr. Jack Cline was named honorary Raider because of the abundance of spirit he expresses at Rider. The week drew to a close with the naming of Todd Owens and Lisa Van Geem as 1984-1985 Mr. and Miss Raider. This week, filled with tradition and excitement, proved to be interesting and fun for everyone at Rider.

What do you say Sonny? Landon Winstead



You mean he's NOT going to die?

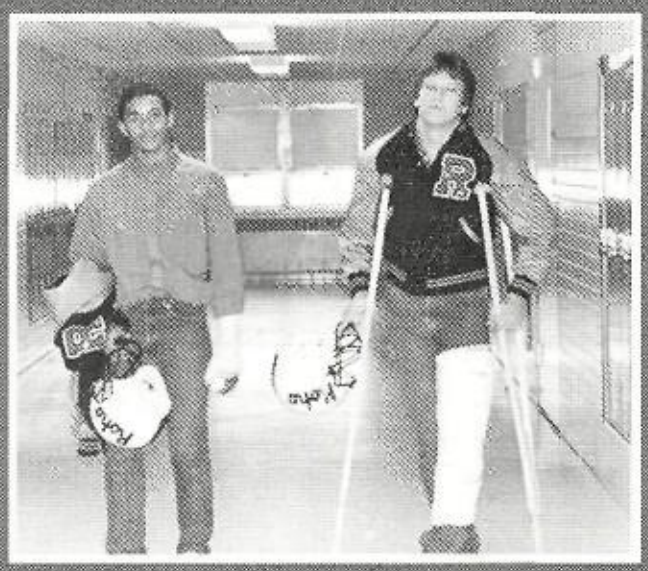
As the ROHO Goes

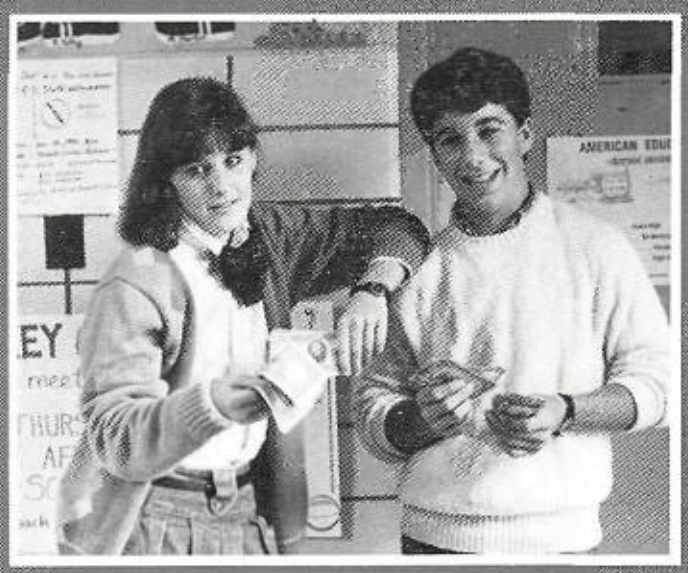
Rider High School; home of the popular, the rich, the famous, the talented and the rowdy. These diverse people every week day make the ROHO go.

Pride of RHS, star athletes Duke "Killer" Thompson and Bud "The Beef" Smith strut down the hall reflecting football plays. Both young men risked their lives for the glory and pride of their school, but that won't save their love lives. Their girls just dumped them because the guys' egos were bigger than their hearts.

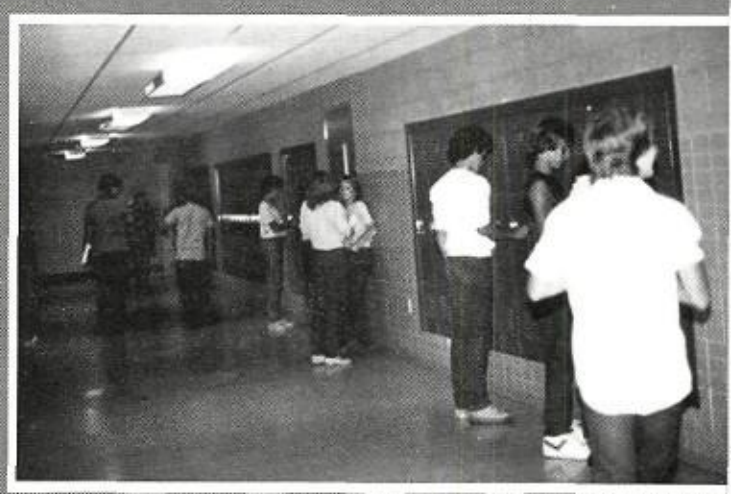


Cindy Sunshine, freshman socialite, could just die! She heard Duke and his girlfriend are quits! She just knows Duke will ask her to "go" with him! All of her friends are having a hissy cow they are soooooo jealous! Maybe she'll even get a MUM!

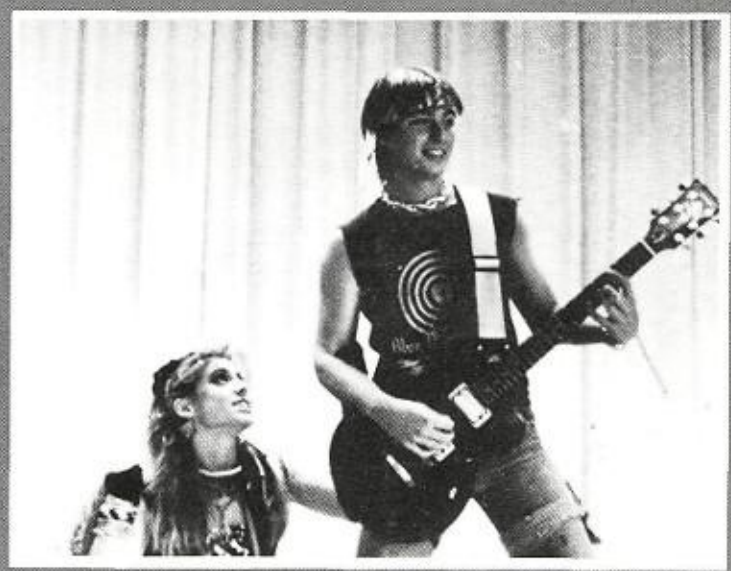
Two of the upper class at Rider, Biff Cavender and Muffy Pebworth count their money. They make all of their bread from charging interest on lunch money loans. They are sooooo rich!



Our story begins as Mrs. Jackye Plummer ponders over her daily schedule. What should she do first? Practice announcements, count ballots, file AGR cards? It's a hard job, but she knows she runs the school. To her, the young men and women here at Rider are more than students, they're all her children.



Could it be? Yes, it is! It's Gator Jones, Rider's superstar rocker. Cha Cha Bravada just loves to hear his guitar screech. It seems that Gator has swept the naive girl off her feet. Poor Cha Cha, she just has to learn that love can't grow in the fast lane.



Will Mrs. Plummer get her job done? Will Duke and Bud rekindle their old flames? Or will Cindy capture the upperclassman she has always wanted. How long will Biff and Muffy be able to keep up their treacherous racket? And what about Cha Cha, can she live with the heartbreaking absence of Gator? Stay tuned, soap fans, and find out . . .

Rider - Coyote Week

Raiders Show True School Spirit

This year's Rider - Coyote week was filled with spirit and excitement. The big game was prepared for all week. The Goalpost Decorators boosted the team's spirit by giving the players special treats each day and decorating their rooms on Wednesday. Halls were decorated by the cheerleaders, Goalpost, Raider Crew, and dedicated Raiders.

During the week, activities outside of school such as the Coyote Cookout, the decorating of Southwest Parkway, gym decorations and the Happening helped raise the spirit of the football team and the rest of the Raiders. The week climaxed on Mumday and the Raiders showed their spirit by not talking until the big pep rally. Even though we lost the game, we still retained our Raider spirit. ...Need we say more ?

Raiders forge ahead.

IF THEY COULD SEE ME NOW...

When Alan Lucus was young he liked to sit around and smile a lot. Now he has mastered looking as if he is working while he sits around.

As a little girl, Son Hye Schultz dreamed of being a cheerleader at a great high school. This year she realized her dream in full.

At a young age, Randy Guess was so modest he took baths while fully clothed; even now touches of his modesty still remain.

When a child, Sara Dimitri loved to catch butterflies but now that she is in high school, she diverts her attention to all the cute guys on campus.

While a young boy, Cullen Allred always observed water safety rules — you might say wearing a life vest became a habit. Now that he is in high school you would think he could let up just a little.

When Kerry Goldstein was a young lady,her parents feared feeding her because of her atrocious table manners. After years of culturing, as a sophomore she shows proper table etiquette.

Allen Killingsworth's parents tried to make sure he was a well groomed child. Their work payed off, but now Allen thinks he's posing for G.Q.

When younger, Diedre Bruno just sat in any pose, any place. Now she's concerned with the slinky, sophisticated look.

There were many attempts to get rid of Joe Wurster when he was younger. Now in high school, Joe's teachers have picked up where his parents left off.

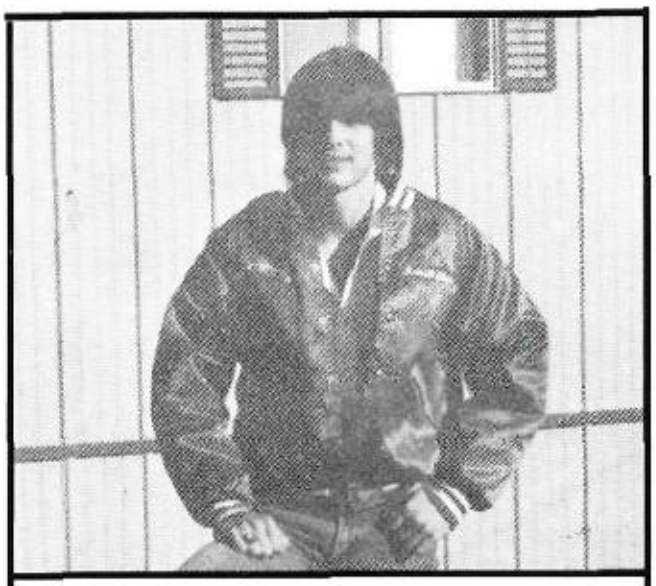
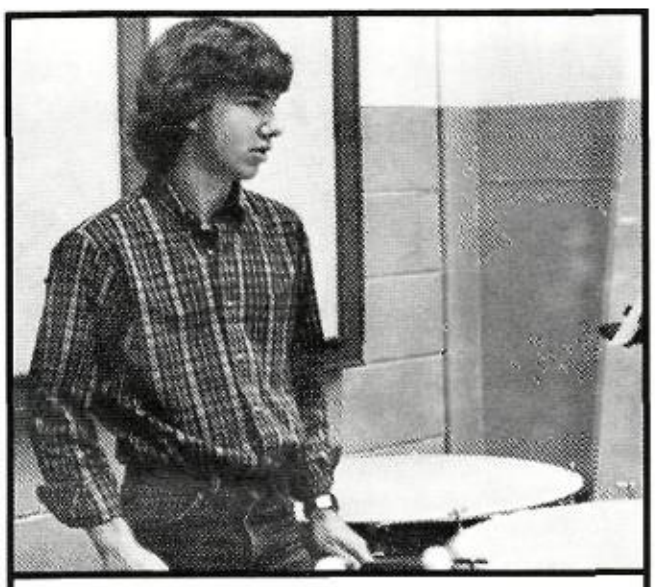
Raider Alphabet . . .



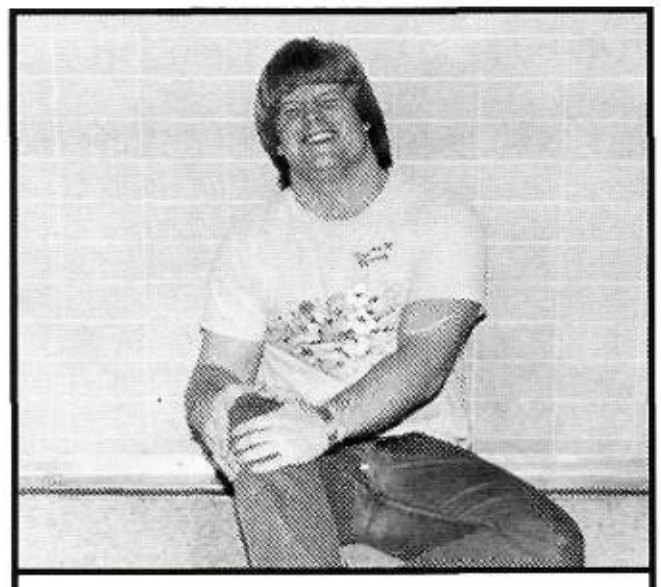
A is for Kenneth Aldrete
Who wants to own a farm.
And wake up in the morning
When the rooster sounds the alarm

B is for Jerry Bell
A golfer's club he did swing
To hit that round little thing
Away it flew
Into the blue
Boy, did his buddy's head sting.

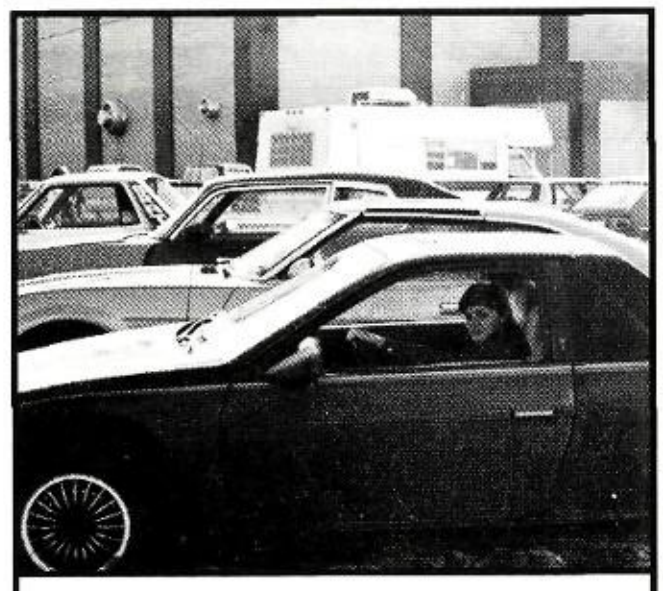
C is for Joanna Campbell
Who would liked to doodle
In her chicken noodle
And in her soup she would play
Happy, happy all the day.



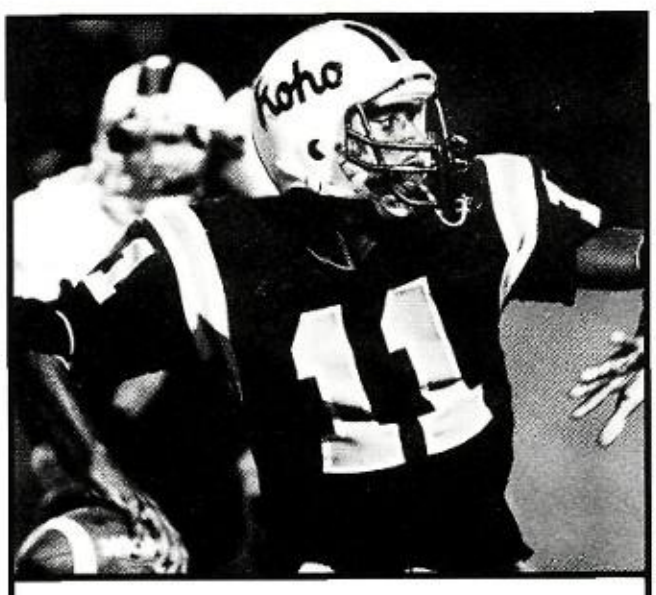
D is for John Day
Who liked to play the drum
And march throughout the land
With our favorite black and gold band.



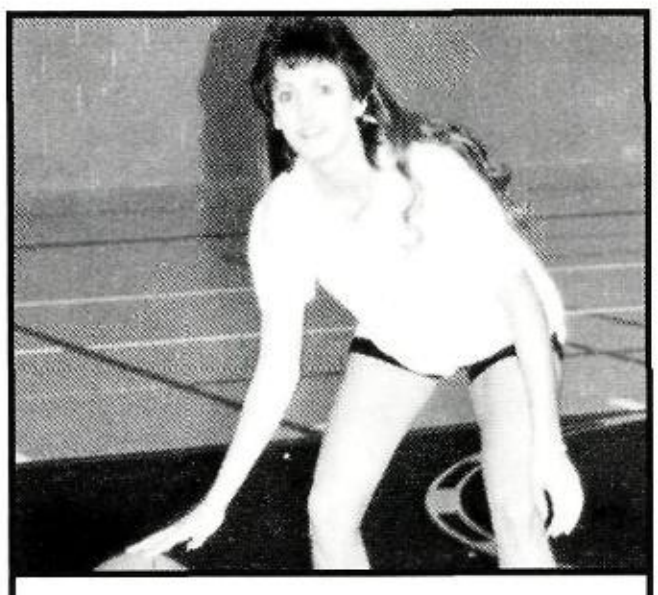
E is for Dean Emberton
Who was always happy and glee
Until one day he crunched his kness
And now he can no longer flee



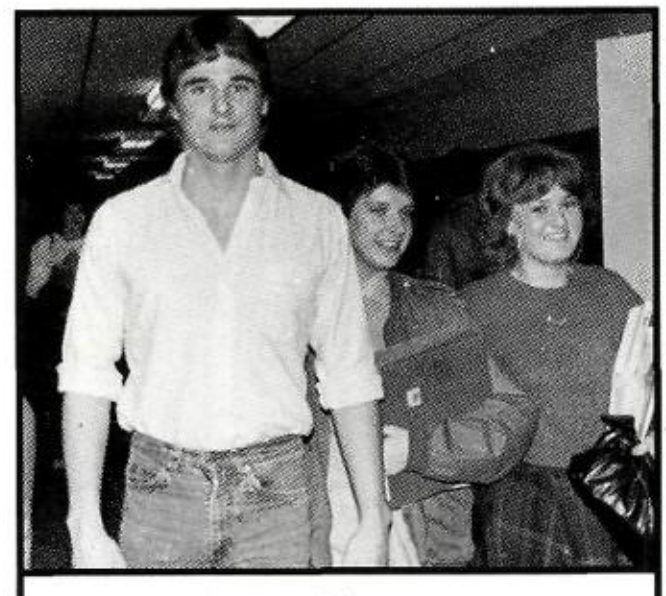
F is for Christy Freeman
Who thought by far
She had a nice car
And with it she would drive
For she was not deprived.



G is for Gary Griffin
Who always threw the ball
When he dropped back to pass
Everybody said "Oh No,
Hope it goes to ROHO.



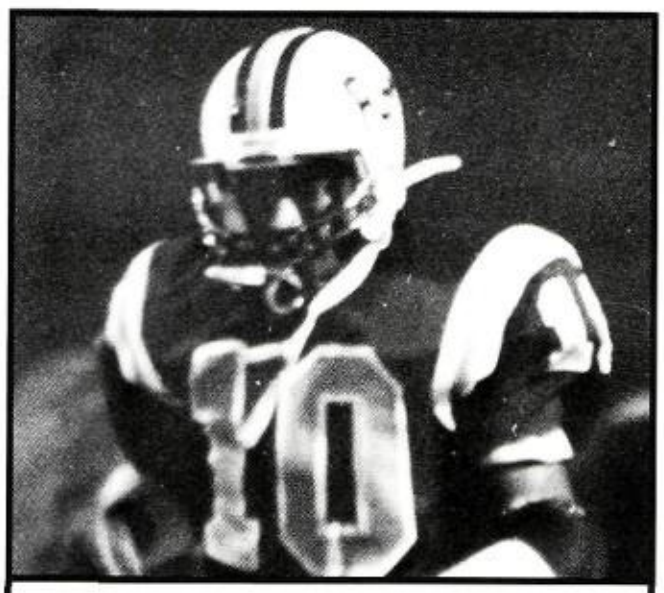
H is for Robbie Holbrook
Who liked to dribble the ball.
And dribble she would
As fast as she could.
Amazing us all.



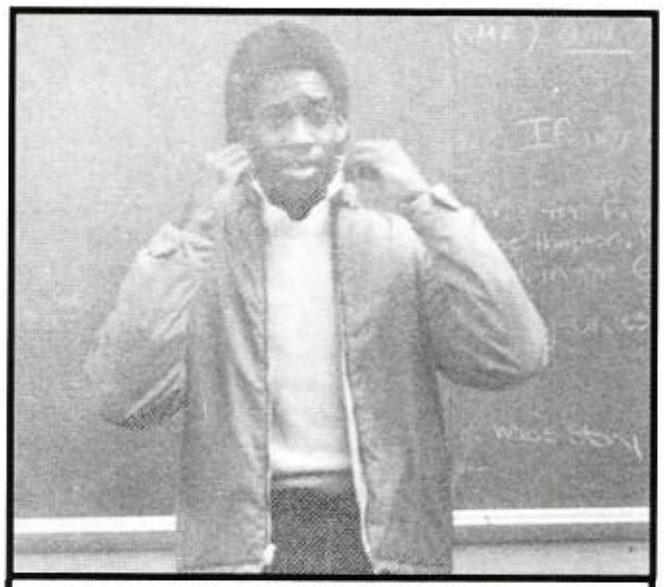
K is for Tim Kuhn
He was the man of the school
For he was big, bad and cool
Down the hall he would walk
For he was a big time jock.

Because of years of no essential elements the Raiders on Annual Staff have trouble with their ABC's. Therefore, some letters are left out of the Raider alphabet.

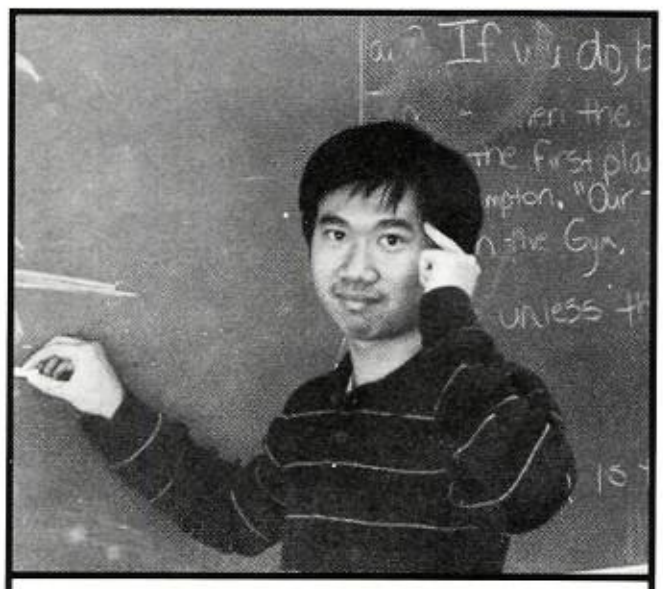
L is for Alan Lucus
Who was so smart
But we are believers who think
He was a double for Ward Cleaver



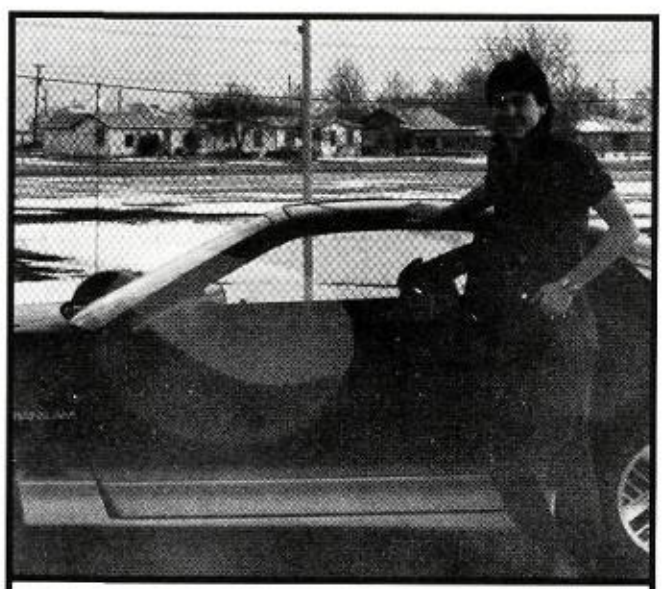
O is for Todd Owens
Who ran so quick
He knew every trick
For he was no traitor
He was our Mr. Raider.



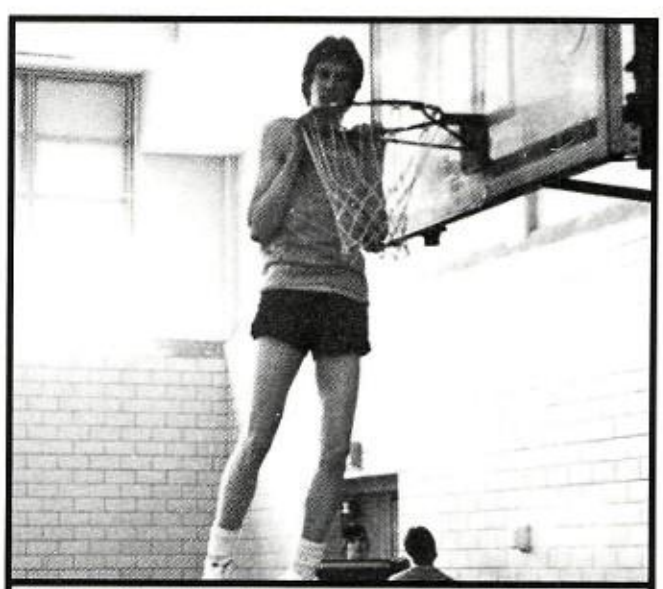
P is for Fred Page
This guy was such a rage
He thought he was so cool
He was the man of the age
For Fred would be no man's fool



Q is for Quan Vu
Who knows about 2+2
In this senior class these people were so few
He could add and subtract, multiply too
Yes, Quan Vu is the man for Alpha Theta Mu.

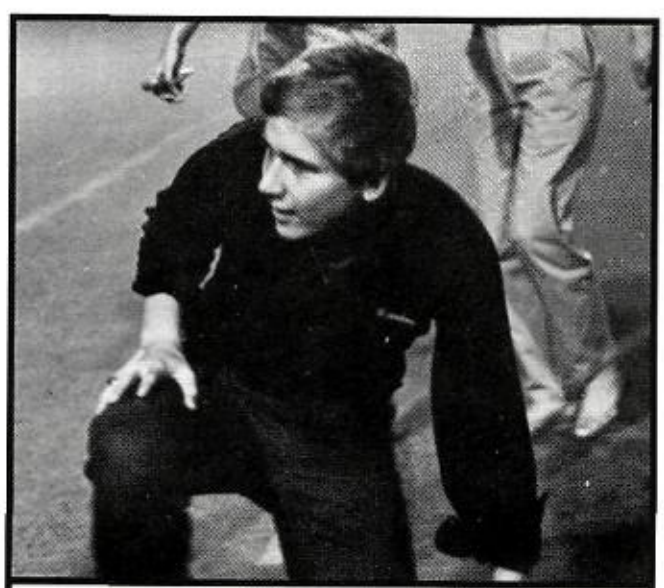


R is for Danny Reddick
Who liked to play
All night and day
And pull a shazam
In his new Trans Am



S is for Jim Sissons
Who would fly through the sky
With the greatest of ease
As if he were flying
On a swinging trapeze.

V is for Lisa Van Geem
A cheerleader who really could scream
Her spirit showed true
When she cheered at the games
She was a Raider through and through.



W is for Landon Winstead
Who liked to perform and act
But the biggest crowd he could ever attract
Happened to be the one in his head.

Z is for a Zinni named Dave
In leading the band he was brave
So when it comes to waving his hand
This guy was the best in Raider Land.

Brothers and Sisters

Sibling Rivalry or Comradery?

Brothers and sisters have always been known to quarrel, but many people do not realize how much brothers and sisters mean to one another. A close relationship between brothers and sisters is a bond that can never be destroyed. A brother or sister can always be relied upon when others do not come through, and the bond only strengthens with time. Some bonds even go to the point of working together as a team; a part time job, a sport, or some other activity.

There are many advantages and disadvantages to having brothers and sisters: such as your brother or sister telling your parents something you did not want them to know, sharing a car, and teachers comparing younger brothers and sisters to their older ones. Older brothers and sisters are relied upon for rides to and from school and help on homework. Brothers and sisters, although we may not realize it, are a valuable part of our high school years and our lives.

Honors

Honors are reserved to those of who decided to be more than average. Excelling in academics, leadership, and popularity gained us recognition as people of ambition and honor. We wanted to be the best. We showed everyone we truly deserved recognition for our accomplishments. Never giving up, always competing, and having a positive attitude were qualities we possessed. Rider High School awarded us by singling us out as people who had discovered New Directions, allowing us to be better than the rest.

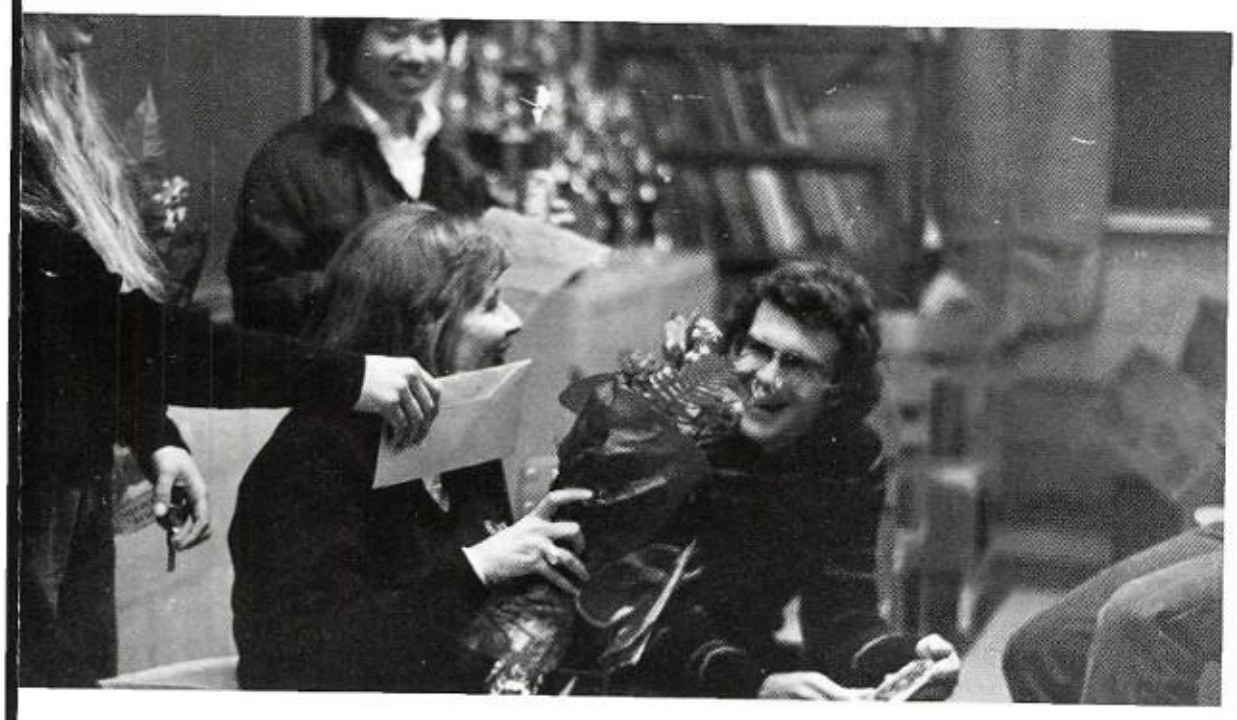
Academic Decathlon Team

The Academic Decathlon Team is a group of very talented juniors and seniors who compete in ten academic areas. Some of the areas include both prepared and impromptu speaking, history, fine arts, and mathematics. In addition to this, they extensively studied two novels and World War I. The team began preparation for the Decathlon in the summer and have met at least twice a week during the school year. The long hours of study paid off the Academic Decathlon Team as they swept the Regional Meet with an overwhelming first place victory. The team advanced to the State Academic Decathlon Meet where they did very well. The two dedicated sponsors of the team are Miss Himstedt and Mrs. Plummer.



Kim Clary, Anh Quan Vu, and Billy Earnest present their sponsor, Miss Himstedt, with flowers at a celebration for their victory at the Regional Meet.

Scholastic Awards Winners

Each year, ten Scholastic Award winnners are selected from the sophomore, junior, and senior classes. These winners must take a test and meet other requirements. Anyone who is selected as a winnner must be taking four solid subjects and have a 4.0 grade average or no grade lower than a C for the last semester. This year, the test the Scholastic Award winnners took evaluated their critical thinking skills.

National Honor Society

National Honor Society is a nationawide organization for high school students. To be nominated, a senior must have maintained a 3.5 grade point average throughout high school while juniors must maintain a 3.7 grade point average. The faculty votes on a student's service, leadership, and character. This year, 20 seniors and 26 juniors joined the 26 two-year members in making up Rider's chapter of the National Honor Society. Sponsors are Mrs. Linda Smith and Mrs. Betty Benesh.

The Real Spirit Specialists Are Chosen

Brad Burlison, James Frank, Todd Owens, Larry Benton, Henry Lucio, Danny Reddick, Misty Malone, Son Hye Schultz, Lisa Van Geem, Lori Gordon, Courtney Bush, Mary Jane Pond, Robbie Holbrook, Pam Gore

Roundup Week, one of the oldest traditions at Rider, was celebrated October 2 through October 7. The Senior class presented an assembly and introduced this year's nominees for Mr. and Miss Raider. The assembly this year was a takeoff of the soap opera "All My Raiders" and the nominees were introduced as Spirit Specialists. After the assembly, students voted for the two people they felt displayed true Raider spirit and friendliness. The votes were tallied and the winner's names kept a secret until the climax of Roundup Week, the Roundup Dance. At the dance, which was held October 7, last year's winners presented the new Mr. and Miss Raider with the traditional black cowboy hats. This year's Mr. and Miss Raider, Lisa Van Geem and Todd Owens, were chosen for the true Raider qualities which they portray. The nominees for the 1984-85 school year were: Larry Benton, Pam Gore, James Frank, Misty Malone, Henry Lucio, Son Hye Schultz, Hixon Frank, Lori Gordon, Danny Reddick, Robbie Holbrook, Cory Scott, Courtney Bush, Brad Burlison, Mary Jane Pond, Todd Owens, and Lisa Van Geem.

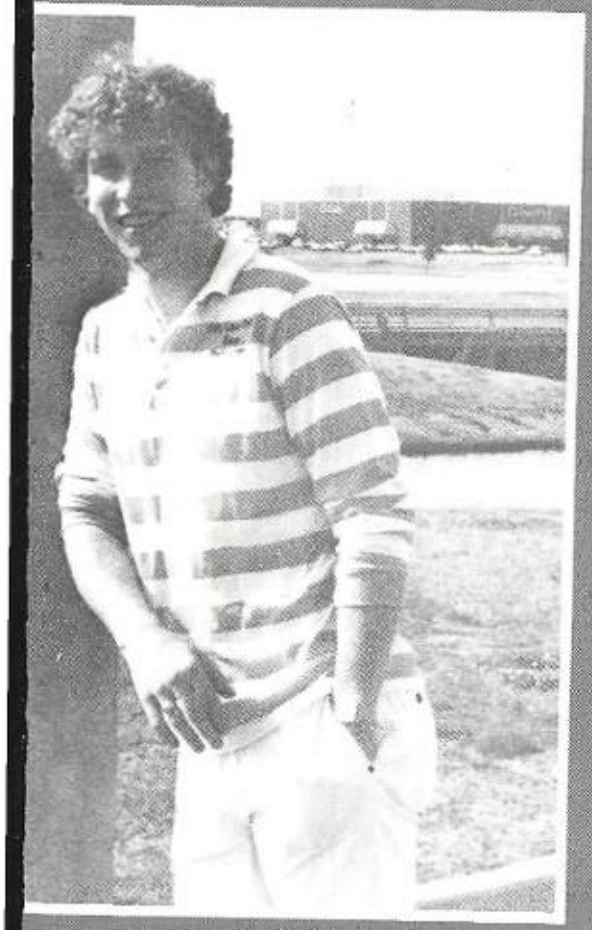
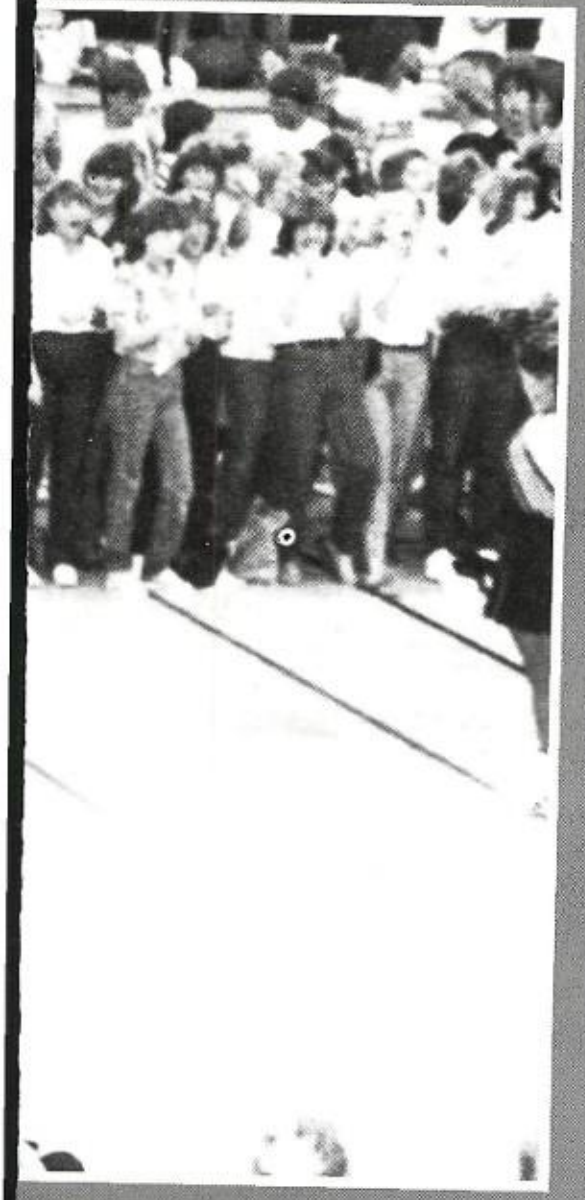
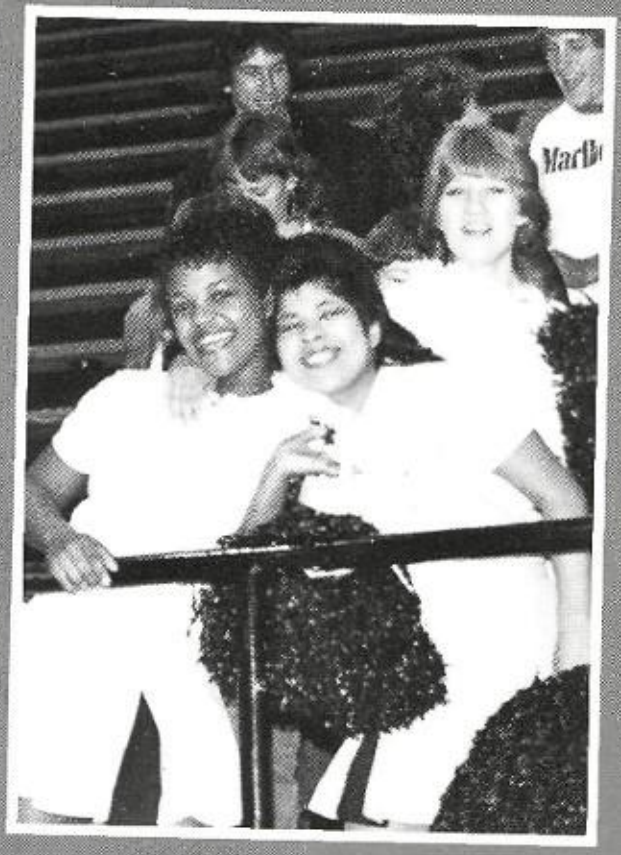
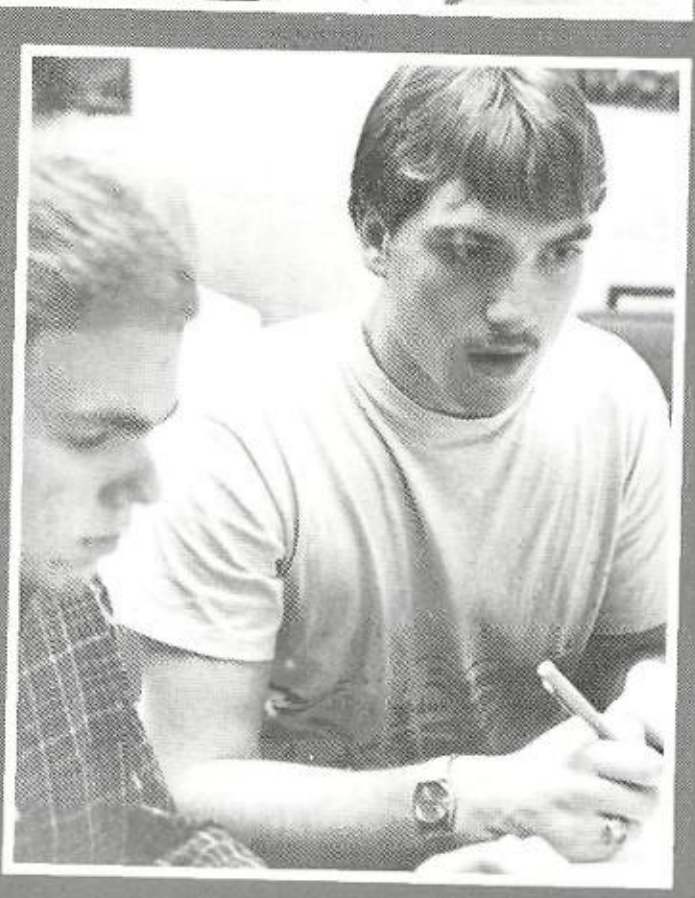
Organizations

"Being involved" at Rider meant belonging to particular clubs or classes which we found interesting. We realized that involvement required a lot of our time. For instance, the Choir spent many hours during concert season at sectionals and singing for various audiences. Other clubs held fund raisers and had parties. Still other clubs participated in community service projects. Thes usually meant sacrificing personal time. For the annual staff, it meant slaving over an IBM PC computer to complete the annual. Whatever the sacrifice, those of who were in organizations were following New Directions in search of experiences which would help us grow into adults.









Look Out It's Us the Cheerleaders of 85

The 1984-85 cheerleaders aid in building the spirit of Rider High. Their creative pep rallies and their special days created excitment during the football season. These special days include: Mash Day, Double Your Spirit Day, Boot Day, and Out class the Coyotes Day.

Even though the years activities changed drastically, the cheerleaders went with the flow and had good pep rallies with the help of their sponsor, Mrs. Marttha Callaway even with lagging pep rally attendance. The basketball season also gave new challenges for these eight girls and they met the challenge by promoting excitement on the sidelines at the games.

These eight girls shared the rare opportunity of being elected cheerleaders. Their loyatly, determination, and friendliness helped make this year very special. The cheerleaders upheld the school traditions in the best ways. All their bumps, crashes, and bruises could not dampen their energy, for the 1985 cheerleaders helped make this year one of the best.

Elected by the student body were : Courtney Bush, Robbie Holbrook, Sone Hye Schltz, Lori Gordon, Mary jane Pond, Lisa Van Geem, Misty Malone and Pam Gore.

Raider Crew Corrals Spirit

The Raider Crew, a long held tradition at Rider High School, was once again an active part of our spirit-promoting campaign. With more enthusiasm than seen in the past years, the Crew was present at all of the fall sports activities and pep rallies. New facets of the Crew were the partner stunts and their help in leading cheers. The Crew also held their annual "shoot out"during Coyote Week when they kidnapped Mrs. Plummer. This years captain was Marc Parker and the year's lieutenant was James Frank.

Raider Spirit Runs Through Goalpost

Members Show Special Pride for Players

Goalpost Decorators is an organization which is sponsored by Mrs. Pat Coffman and Mrs. Dana McIlhaney. This organization is composed of junior and senior girls who spend many hours each week promoting school spirit. This time is spent decorating locker rooms and presenting the athletes with special treats before each sporting event.

"Another function of the Goalpost Decorators is making the run through signs for the football games. The Run-Through committee, a special group within Goalpost, is responsible for designing two signs for each football game. In addition to their other Goalpost duties. The Goalpost Decorators show much pride and determination in backing the Raiders on to victory. Their efforts do not go unoticed and play a large part of the winning tradition at Rider High School.

Spirited Ranglers Parade Enthusiasm

The 1984-85 Rider Ranglers start their year in August, while most of R.H.S. is still worrying about how good their tan looks. The officers of the Ranglers start three weeks before school and are joined by the rest of the members a week later to learn all the routines to be used during the year.

Ranglers perform at all the football games, some basketball games, and march in parades throughout the year. This spirit organization is made of sophomore, junior, and senior girls who try out in December of each year. Their tryouts are based on the girls' ability to learn a routine quickly and how well high kicks and splits are performed.

The most important event of the Ranglers' year is their sweetheart banquet. At the banquet, awards are given to outstanding girls in the group. Girl of the year is Kianna Rathgeber; Line officer of the year is Karla Biggerstaff. The Queen and her court are Julie Parker — Queen, Seniors — Tina Boyd and Teresa Russell, Juniors — Kianna Rathgeber and Marcie Nichols, Sophomores — Tyra Justiss and Diane Cooper.

The Pride of the Raiders

The Pride of the Raiders Marching Band is a spirited organization dedicated to excellence through discipline and friendship. The PRIDE begins rehearsals three weeks before the start of school in preparation for half-time performances and parades. Once school begins, the PRIDE meets at 7:30 a.m. each weekday morning rain or shine. This year, the Pride opened their half-time performance with "Firedance" and then "Dindi" before concluding with "Come in From the Rain" and the Rider fight song.

This year, the marching band kept in step with a 10-year-old tradition by earning a superior rating at the UIL Marching Contest. The band is under the leadership of Mr. Poney Thompson, director, and Mike Humphreys assistant director.

A Superb Harmony

A-Cap sings the notes

A-Cap is one of the largest and oldest organization at Rider High School. It is a group of seventy-nine seniors and juniors and six sophomores. A-Cap is directed by Donald B.Cowan, who has been at Rider since the doors opened. He devotes time to the choir to create "The Greatest Choir Ever." This superb group of students have the ability to bring smiles and tears to their listeners. The choir participates in various activities throughout the year, including concerts, U.I.L., Tour and having fund raisers, by selling ribbons, cups, flags, hats, and shirts.

All of these activities are very important to the organization. Some of the money that the choir raises goes toward the buying of Black and Gold helium filled balloons for a traditional spirit booster at the football games.

The choir is divided into four sections; Soprano, Alto, Tenor and Bass. Each section is headed by a section leader. Every year the present choir chooses future officer. The officers of the 84-85 A Capella Choir are; Dean Emberton, president; Danny Saenz, vice-president; and Missy Verret, secretary. These officers serve various duties for the choir each day. Other offices filled by members of the choir include Business Mgr. and assistant, Robe Mgr. and assistant, Librarian and assistant, Stole Mgr. and assistant, and riser crew. All officers of the choir have important jobs to perform. Throughout the year, every member of the choir attains many memories. All of these memories of events and people are brought back when the choir sings its last notes.

Concerts, UIL Competition, are the tests

The Girls' Choir is an organization of 44 girls who participate in many activities that broaden their knowledge of music. The girls sang at eight concerts including the Spring and Christmas concerts. The effect of their work climaxed at the UIL competition in the spring.

The girls believed their class taught more than music, it showed them how to work with people and how to use their gift of music to the best of their abilities.

Cadet Choir Gains Experience For Future

Anticipating their audition for Girls' Choir, the 1984-85 Cadet Choir practiced scales, sheet music, and the basics needed for a successful choir. The Cadet Choir gave three performances this year, one at Open House, one at Sikes Senter Mall, and one at their final Spring Concert in May. These concerts gave the girls the confidence and the experience they will need to meet the Rider Choir Department's standards for the future.

Council Working In New Directions

The Student Council is a special organization of elected representatives from each class comprised of council officers, class presidents, and other elected members from each class. The members are responsible for meetings and projects throughout the year. The meetings are used to discuss the projects and, if the students do not participate, they receive a demerit. The members are divided into groups for each of the projects they work on. Their projects include the annual Christmas party for the faculty, the talent show, concession stands at speech tournaments, and organization, concession and clean-up for all school dances.

The Industrial Arts organization at Rider is a chapter of the national organization called the American Industrial Arts Student Association. Industrial Arts is a program of classroom and laboratory experiences which provides students with a basic education in the industrial and technological aspects of society.

Students in industrial arts can prepare for advanced trade and industrial or technical education programs. The program allows students to experiment, design, construct, and evaluate. Members of industrial arts learn to respect the dignity of labor and to appreciate craftsmanship.

In addition to local and state activities, members may also participate in organized National AIASA activities, such as the competitive events program, achievement program, national conference, and national service project.

The Rider chapter of AIASA was organized in 974. The sponsor is Mr. Glenn Wood.

FFA Develops Farming and Agricultural Skills

Members show their livestock

FFA is a thriving organization consisting of 80-85 members who share an interest in farming and agriculture. Ag members learn important qualities about beef and soil. They study the fertility of soil, and soil and plant science. Ag enters approximately five contests per year, which consist of the judging and showing of their animals. The animals are bought from various sales at livestock auctions.

Funds are raised by selling fruit and turkeys and by holding labor auctions. Profits earned go toward sending two students to Washington for a national convention. The money is also used for a leadership conference, and a banquet at the end of the year.

Rodeo Club Saddles Up For Another Year

The Rodeo Club at Rider High School gives students the opportunity to learn and compete in the sport of rodeo. The club consists of the inactive members, who participate only in club activities; and the active members, who compete in rodeos throughout the area and make up the actual rodeo team. Team members compete at their own risk and expense in a variety of events-from riding bulls to bareback and saddlebronc riding. This year, the rodeo team was represented at Vernon, Electra, Holiday, Mesquite, and Wichita Falls. "It's a lot of hard work and can be dangerous, but we enjoy the competition and the oppotunity to represent Rider," said Donny Williams, Rodeo Club president. These individuals practice diligently all year to perform at rodeos and playdays to the best of their abilities, and exemplify the true Raider Spirit in all their competitions.

Club Experiences French Cultures

French club sales support the French classes and their activities. The main goal is to insure the French students an opporitunity to partisipate in French competition. The outstanding students attend the Texas French Symposium to compete academically. Parties that reflect the French culture intrest students in the French civilization such as the Halloween party with French desserts and hors d' oeuvres, and then comes the Reveillon Christmas party. The Marti Gras Party recreates a French celebration for the members to experience and appreciate.

German Club Expands Knowledge

The guiding hand of Mrs. Ursula Ulery leads the German Club to indepth study of German culture. The purpose of this club is to expand members' knowledge of the German language and culture through parties, field trips, and fund-raising events. Some of these activities were Oktoberfest, a celebration which commemorates King Ludwig's wedding, a Christmas party, a candy sale held in January, and an end-of-school trip.

Spanish Club Earns Money

Funds Send Students to San Antonio

The Rider High School Spanish Club, "Los Companeros", is a local branch of the Pan American Student Forum sponsored by Mrs. Francine Martin.

The club raises money to send thirty delegates to a state convention in San Antonio during March through the selling of Stanley Home Products, Tupperware, Christmas ornaments, candy, Valentine's carnations, senior class shirts, and holiday bake sales for teachers. A portion of the money raised goes toward a Christmas party for the state hospital children. The club also participates in a project to buy orthopedic braces for an underprivileged child in Mexico.

FCA is Moving in Right Direction

Christ is Goal

The Fellowship of Christian Athletes, sponsored by Coach Terry Richter and Coach Denise Williams, is an organization that promotes the Christian way of life in athletes. The group meets weekly on Thursday mornings and activities and guest speakers are scheduled regularly throughout the year. One such activity is the spring basketball marathon against Old High's chapter of the FCA. Other activities include cookouts and the FCA summer conferences.

Annual Staff Moves in NEW DIRECTIONS

1984-85 Raider Staff finds creating yearbook a challenge

Have you ever seen what looks like a swarm of bees in the halls of Rider? Have you ever wondered who that mad photographer is that keeps trying to take your picture? Or who the person with pencil is who asks nothing but questions, questions, questions?

Who is this striped group of people who keep gawking at you at all major school events? These are the crazy characters of the 1984-85 Annual Staff, whose sole resonsibility is the production of The Raider. These students find that they are actually moving in New Directions as they create this year's Raider Annual. This select group of juniors and seniors spend much of their time debating over the annual's theme and cover design, and rushing to have their pages laid-out before deadlines. During the summer, section editors attend workshops to learn new annual production styles and trends. A new computer is a welcome addition this year, as it aids in making this year's annual the best ever. Staff members spend much time after school in the annual staff room typing in copy and playing word games, but Annual Staff is not all fun and games. These students spend many tedious hours planning, writing copy, and selecting pictures for their pages. Imagination and creativity are necessary qualities for an Annual Staff member. They also find that they must be able to cooperate and work well with each other. Through this tremendous combined effort your 1985 The Raider takes off in New Directions!

Preparing for the Future

Vocational Schools

The two tech schools available to Rider students are Carrigan and Harrell. Students are taught skills and trades in the career area they are interested in. The knowledge and experience learned at the tech schools will be very useful in life and work after graduation.

Classes offered at Harrell are: Building Maintenance Tech I, Clothing Production I, Cooperative Education, Electrical Trades I, Fashion Merchandising I, and Home and Family Management I.

Advanced Office Tech II, Auto Body Repair I, Auto Mechanics I, Cosmetology I, Diesel Mechanics I, Drafting and Design I, Electronics I, Health Care, Science Pre-Lab, Health Occupation Cooperative Training, Machine Shop I, Vocational Office Pre-Lab I, Welding I are the classes offered at Carrigan.

DECA Develops Respect

Distributive Education Clubs of America is an orgainzation that "helps develop respect for education in marketing and distribution," says Miss Marvel, DECA sponsor. The students develop a sense of friendship and unity through social, professional, and civic activities. This permits them to help encourage one another in the pursuit of common ideals.

During the school year, DECA has fund raisers called "sales projects." They sell The Country Collection, DECA candy bars, and butter cookies. These projects are to teach members about entrepreneurship.

DECA Pre-lab provides technical instruction for students with no on-the-job training. The Pre-lab students attain experience by selling school supplies and candy in the Raider Trader.

ICT Prepares Students "Work While You Learn"

Industrial Cooperative Training (ICT) is an organization which prepares high school students for useful employment in various industrial fields through the combined efforts of community and school. This provides work experiences in the basic operations of a chosen vocation through related and actual working conditions. ICT also provides employer/employee relations and career opportunities. The students develop desirable attitudes with respect to mental and physical health and safety.

VOE develops office skills

Vocational Office Education's goal is to prepare a program of individualized instruction to provide skills leading to employability and advance in business and office occupations. The pre-employment laboratory program is two class periods of instruction five days per week. The cooperative on-the-job training program requires students to attend a one period class of instruction correlated with 15 hours minimum of related business and office on-the-job experience during the school week. Students are assigned to a training station and under the supervision of a training sponsor they work for entry level wages depending on the skills and requirements of the job they are to perform.

Gymleaders Exercise Leadership

Much appreciated by the physical education teacher, Mrs. Cremeens, gymleaders are a group of girls dedicated to uplifting the standards of monkey suits, calisthenics, and locker room singing. Qualifications for this honored position are good grades and outstanding leadership ability. Mrs. Cremeens said, "I appreciate the time saved because the gymleaders help with equipment and locks." Special privileges the gymleaders partake in are a Christmas party and getting to wear a special uniform. Mrs. Cremeens and the students thank the girls for all the work they have done this year.

Organization Stands at Attention

Good citizenship, leadership, effective communication and the maintenance of good health are four goals of JROTC, a government sponsored high school leadership course. The 1984-85 school year kept Rider's one hundred JROTC members busy with wide range of activities benefitting the community as well as the cadet. At our football games they controledd the reserved parking lot and the flag was presented by Rider's Color Gaurd at each home game. In October the rifle and drill participated in the Top of Texas, a meet on the local level. November brought a rifle, drill and orienteering meet at Cameron University in Lawton, Oklahoma. JROTC also participated in a Weekend Ranger field exercise throughout the year. The activities of JROTC extended into the spring when they took part in both campouts and river trips.

Learning to Grow

Rider organizations have traditionally played major roles in the lives of students. Our clubs and the responsibilities we undertake always draw us together and help us to discover new strengths in ourselves as well as in our friends. With every bag of Skittles we sell, every car we wash, and every flag, keychain and shirt we buy, we grow closer together. Our participation and our sacrifices were instrumental in building the character, determination, and pride exemplified by all Raiders.

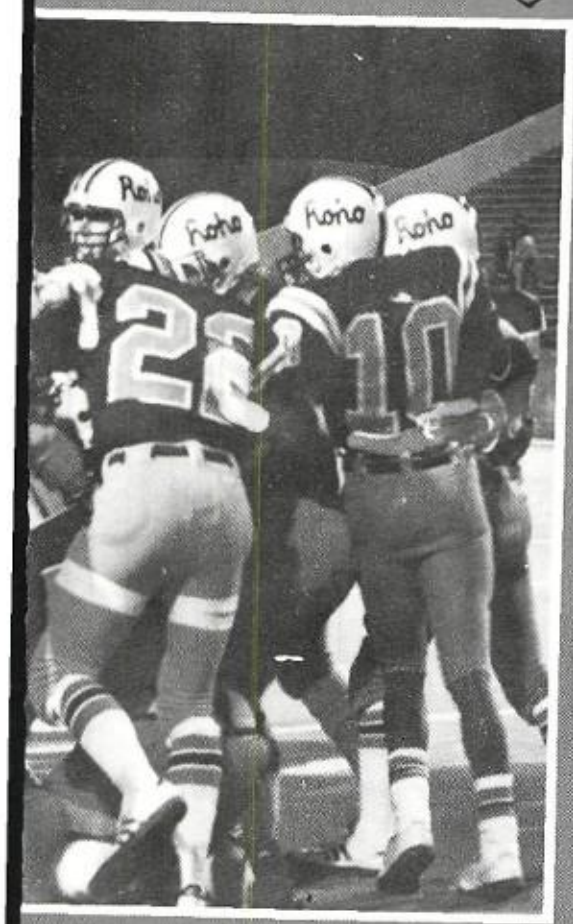
Sports



Enduring both wins and loses, we never lost our spirit. As Raiders, we enjoyed the thrills of victory, but also realized that there was something to be gained from our loses. We grew in New Directions through teamwork, self-sacrifice, and competition. We learned that it took special qualities to become a team. We spent many hours preparing ourselves both mentally and physically for competition. As we faced the opposing teams, we realized our capabilities as a team and as individuals. And although the scoreboard did not always reflect our victory, it was still there. Our victory was knowing that we had grown as individuals and as a team.

Under New Direction

The 1984 Raider football team was led by first year head coach Don Hartman. Although new to the job as head coach, Hartman, brought eighteen years of experience with him. Having coached under Rider former head coaches Joe Bob Tyler and Morris Mercer, Coach Hartman gathered plenty of experience to take over the head coach position. Coach Hartman's goal for the 1984 Raiders was to continue the winning tradition of the Raiders and lead them into the playoffs for the third consecutive year. Hartman stressed to the team that unity and effort are more important ingredients for success than is the individual physical abilities of members of the team. Coach Hartman's three assistant varsity coaches include Don Flippin, Ken Burroughs, and Nick Hollars.

Coach Flippin has been a member of the Raider coaching staff for five years. He has gained valuable coaching experience under Head Coaches Morris Mercer and Don Hartman. Flippin's primary coaching function is to be in charge of the defensive force. Coach Burroughs has been at Rider for six years, with three years varsity coaching experience under head coaches Mercer and Hartman. Coach Burroughs's duties include working with the offensive linemen and the defensive linebackers. Coach Hollars has been at Rider for five years, with this being his first year as a varsity assistant coach under Coach Hartman. Coach Hollars instructs the defensive secondary and helps with the backs and receivers on offense.

The 1984 Rustlers were under the helm of head Coach Lynn Donart. Coach Donart has been coaching and teaching at Rider for 3 years. Coach Donart's main function with the Rustlers is to coach the offensive and defensive lines, while working with the specialty teams. Coach Donart's future goals include improving his teaching techniques, strive for a "winning season," and at some point in time to be a varsity coach. Coach Donart says working with the freshman football team has taught him patience, to work hard but impress to the kids to have fun, while making sure they all understand the fundamentals. Freshman assistant coach, John McCleskey, is in his first year at Rider. He has had an enjoyable time here so far while adjusting to "big time" high school life. Coach McCleskey works with the offensive backs and the secondary on defense. Coach McCleskey's future goals for the team are to encourage more participation in athletics, and to help the students achieve the most they can based on their abilities.

Raiders Open Season Slowly

The Rider Raiders opened up the 1984 season with a hard fought defeat at the hands of the Abilene Eagles, 16-0. The next week the Raiders took on cross rival Hirschi. The Huskies handed the Raiders their second loss of the young season, 20-7. The Raiders finally got their first taste of victory the next week against Borger. Based on a good offensive performance the Raiders toppled the 4A foe 29-13. Rider then made it 2 in a Row-ho by defeating the Gainseville Leopards. Roho closed out their non-district games on a sour note by losing to Edmond of Oklahoma. The Raiders finished non-district 2-3. They faced tough opponents that prepared them for a strong district.

Raiders Beat Bearcats

The Rider Raiders managed to even out their record at 3-3 by defeating the Sherman Bearcats at Memorial Stadium. Rider struck quickly scoring two touchdowns in the first quarter and held off a late surge by the bearcats to win by a score of 14-6. The two touchdowns were passes from Griffin to Owens and from Griffin to Mozeke. This was the first district victory for the Raiders.

Rider Runs Over Richland

The Raiders won their second district game in Richland with a 28-7 victory making them the only undeafeted team in the district. The Rebels scored the first touchdown of the game, but Roosevelt Scaggs answered with a 51 yard touchdown run. The Raiders took a seven point lead into halftime with a six yard run by Scaggs. Near the end of the third quarter Gary Griffin ran eighteen yards for the Raiders third touchdown. In the fourth quarter, Scaggs scored another touchdown which made the final score 28-7.

Buffalos Slide by Raiders

When the 0-7 Haltom Buffalos came to town, the Rider Raiders fought hard. The two teams were in a deadlock until the clock showed less than two minutes ,when the Buffalo's scored ,making the count 7-0. The Raiders had a chance to tie , as the crowd watched intensly as an incomplete pass from Griffin to Owens ended the Raider's chance.

Broncos Squeeze by Raiders

The Rider Raiders met up with the Denton Broncos in a game for a share of the district lead, and came up on the short end with a hard fought 24-17 loss . Denton struck fast and furiously jumping out a 24-3 lead at the half. But the Raiders did not make the drive to Denton to lie down, the Raiders fought back with a touchdown and then Sean Dimmer broke loose on an 80 yard run trimming the Broncos lead to 24-17 with less than 5 minutes to go in the game. The Raiders fought like champions but came up on the short end of the stick, losing 24-17.

Rider vs. Old High

The traditional match-up between Rider and Old High was quite exiting. The victor in this contest would bid for a spot in the play-offs. The Raiders jumped out to a seven point lead on a 53 yard bomb from Griffin to Owens. The Coyotes soon countered with a touchdown of their own. The Coyotes scored again on a touchdown pass. Near the end of the first half, Rider drove down the field and Sean Dimmer scored form a yard out. The Raiders had high hopes entering the second half but the Old High came out and scored two touchdowns and a field goal to end the game 31-14

Junior Varsity Strives for Perfection

The Rider Bandits of 1984 were under the direction of Head Coach Danny Edelman. Coach Edelman has been working at Rider for five years. The primary duty of Coach Edelman is to prepare and improve the sophomore and junior players for varsity level competition. One of Coach Edelman's goals is to express the importance of athletic sportsmanship and unity to every participant. Junior Varsity assistant Coach Rogers is in his third year at Rider. Coach Rogers duties include working with the offensive and defensive linemen while also coaching the linebackers. Coach Rogers receives personal satisfaction watching them strive for a goal, and then seeing their faces when they have accomplished it. One of Coach Rogers goals for the future is to help the kids be the best they can possibly be.

Junior Varsity Girls Basketball Shoot for Action!

The Girls Junior Varsity basketball team,led by Vicki McFadden, gained futher experience and ability in basketball through an extremely competative season. Commenting on the season, Leisha Walker said, "We started the season slowly but as it progressed, we built our confidence and strengthened teamwork."

JV is an important step from freshman to varsity. The year helped the girls by developing team work as well as ability. In basketball, you must be able to work with your fellow players. The experience gained this season will help the varsity of next year.

Freshman Girls Basketball

A Winning Season in the Basket

The freshman year is often a difficult one because of old rivals becoming a new team, but the freshman girls basketball pulled it off with success. The team, led by coach Denise Williams proved to all that hard work and determination could produce worthwhile results. Through the long hours of practice the girls found they were more than just a team, they were a family. Shanna Brewer comments,"Though we often became disgusted with ourselves and with practice, to quit the team would have meant to loose a family." The devotion of the girls to their sport and to each other proved to be a winning ingredient.

Swimming for the Gold

(and Black)

The Rider Swim Team, under the direction of Coach Ronnie Rodgers, exhibited outstanding performances this year. Experience combined with competitive spirit made the swim team successful. In preparation for the many tournaments, the swimmers had strenuous workouts before and after school everyday.

Brad Burlison, one of the outstanding swimmers on the team, won district and regional meets and represented Rider at the State Championship in March. Through hard work and dedication, the swim team produced another fine, winning team for Rider High School.

Caught In The Act

Raider Baseball Swings Into Action

After two years of experience as assistant coach, Gary Rogers, moving up to head coach, and assistant coach Lynn Donart have plans to surpass last years nine -thirteen record. With little varsity experience, Coach Rogers is expecting Tim Kuhn, the first string pitcher to help the team a lot. He is also looking for much assistance from Steve Dean, as catcher, Jeff Daniels, at second base, and Chris Heskett, in center field. Other returning players are Kyle Apperson, Wassel Lewis, and Matt McQuerry. Keith Thompson, a transfer junior, will be backing up Kuhn as pitcher. In order to have a great team, Coach Rogers feels everyone needs to mature and play to the best of his ability.

Boys' Track Sprints in New Directions

Rider boys' track team began practicing after school in February. The varsity team is supervised by Coach Danny Edelmann nand Coach Don Flippin. The freshman team is led by Coach Lynn Donart. Rider had athletes in both field and track events. The track team entered the track meets in Burkburnett, Gainesville, Wichita Falls, Graham, Weatherford, Azle, Austin, and Fort Worth which was the district meet. The regional meet is in Lubbock and the state meet is in Austin.

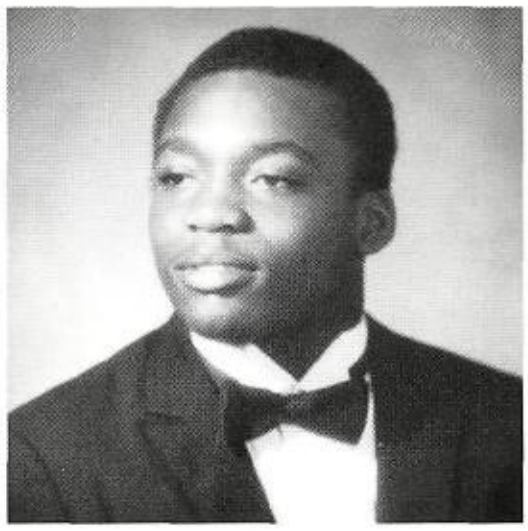
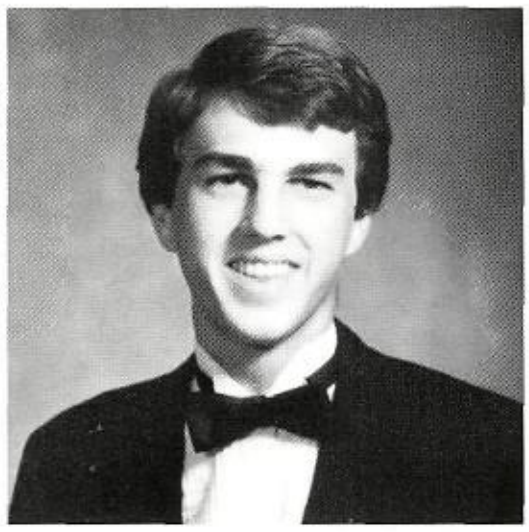
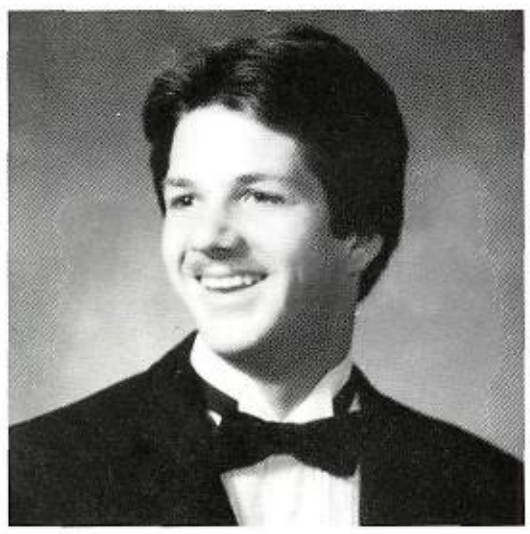
Outstanding Sportsmanship Recognized



Lee Blue was the recepient of the Huffer-Landry award. This award is given to the football player for his hard work and contributions to team spirit.

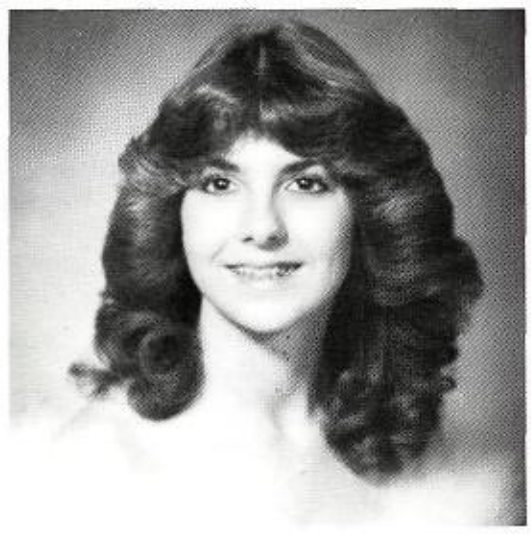


Reed Welch was a co-recepient of the Mike Cook Memorial Award for basketball. This award was given to the player who showed the most hustle and displayed leadership qualities.



Scot Colley was a co-recepient of the Mike Cook Memorial Award for basketball. This is the second year Scot has been given this award.

Joanna Campbell was a co-recepient of the Twelfth Man Award. This award was given for her faithful dedication and Raider Spirit.

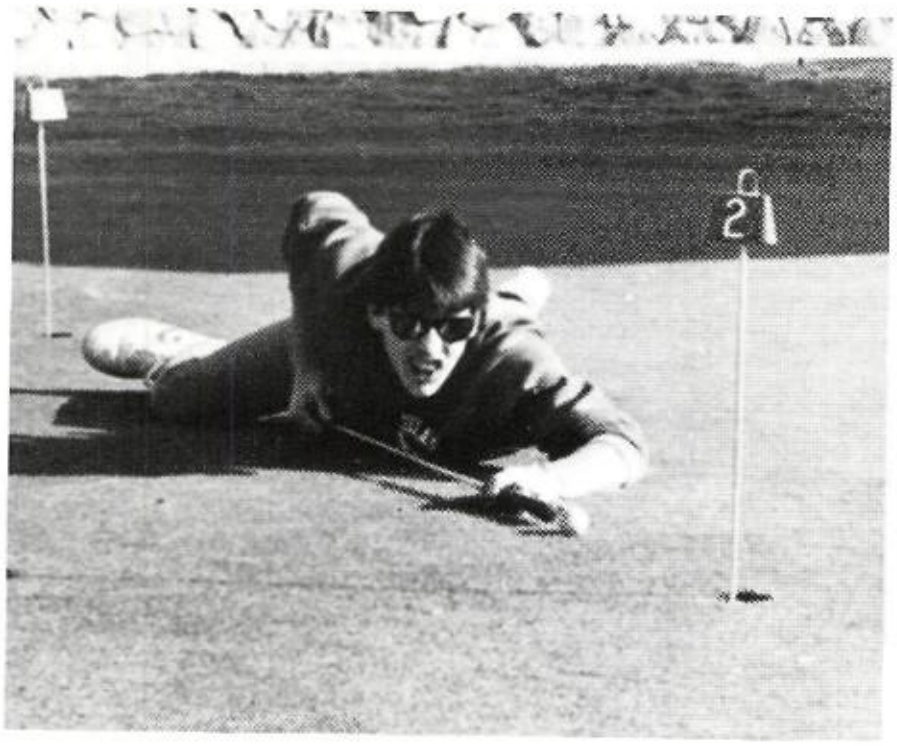


Lisa Lockard was a co-recepient of the Twelfth Man award. She received this award for her spirit and leadership abilities.

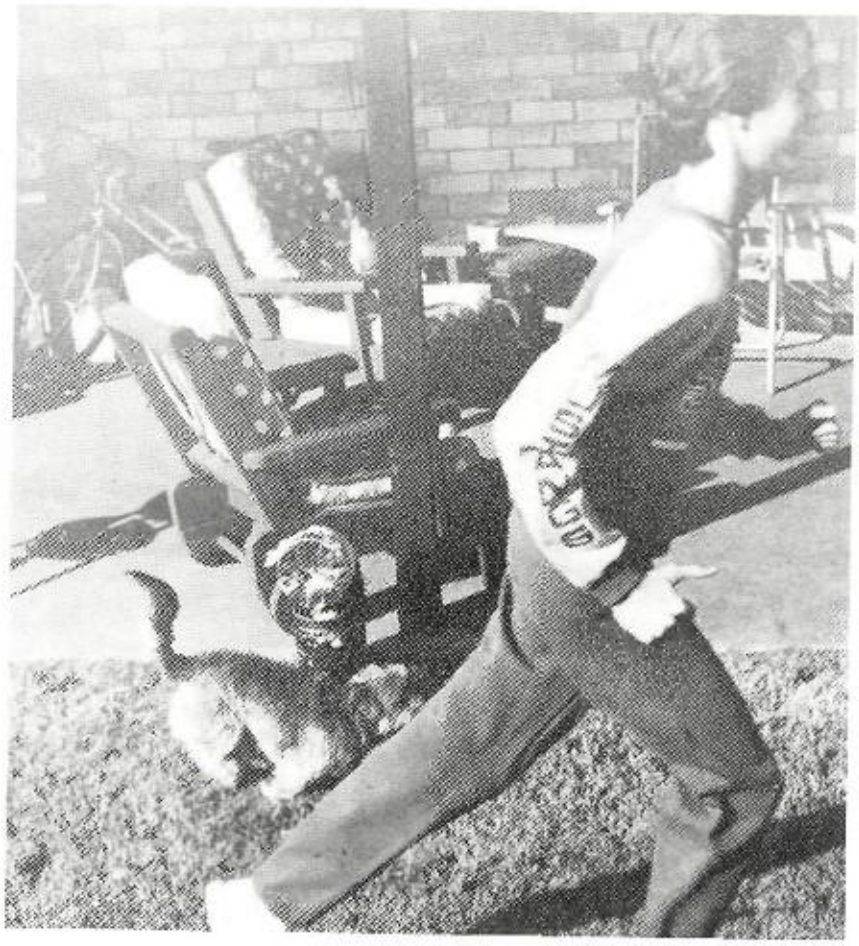
Characteristics of an Athlete

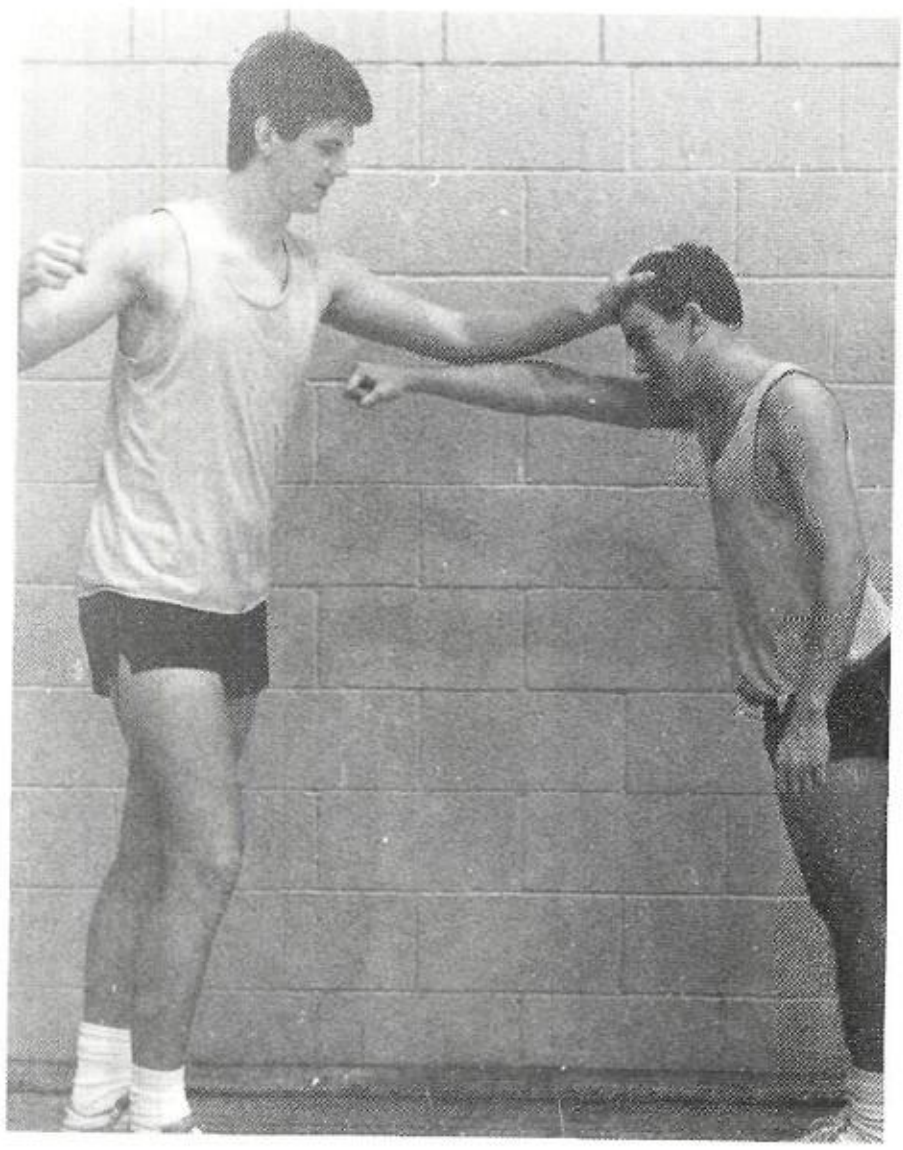
Many characteristics combine together to create the winning athletes of Rider High School.

Strength-The most important quality required of athletes at RHS is brawn and mental strength. This tenacity, sometimes displayed by bulging biceps, can also be found in the odd contortions of the jock's face. Kevin Stom .



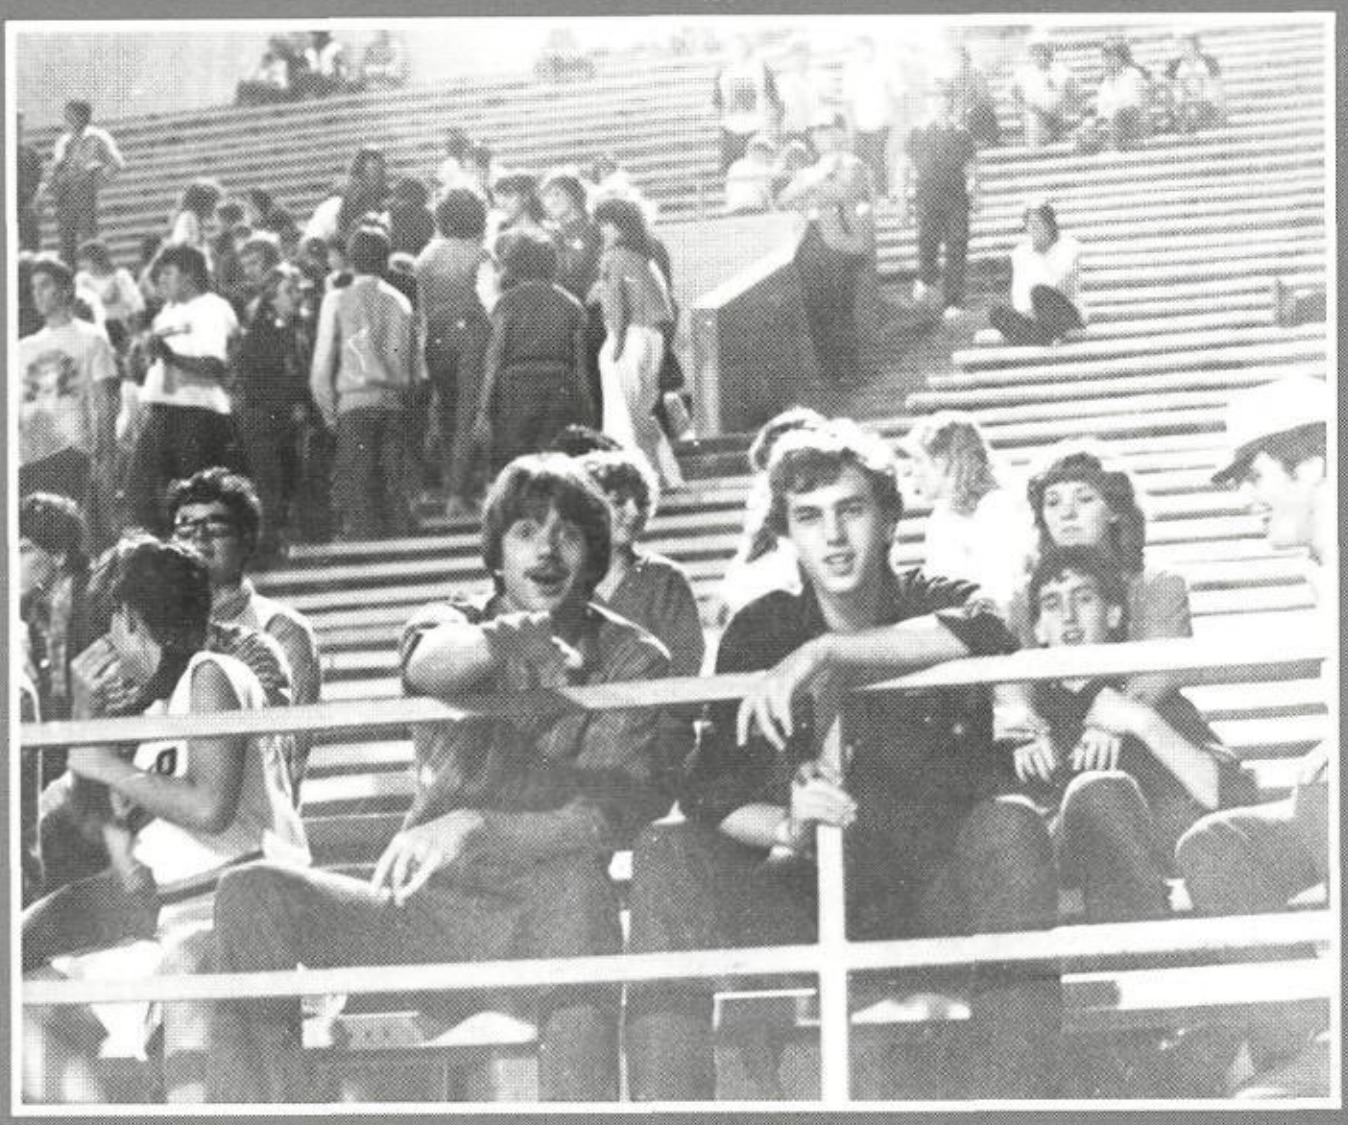
Not necessary, but definitely a qualifying factor, is the lightening speed and superior agility displayed by all of the athletes at Rider. Although mandatory in tennis, track, and basketball, RHS's jocks sometimes find it useful in everyday activities. Jason Jaynes.

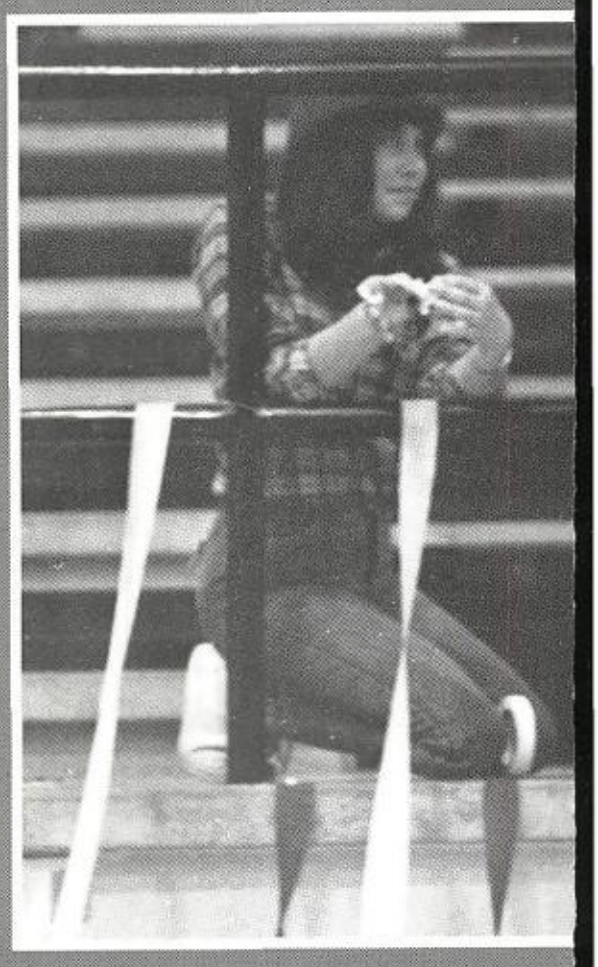


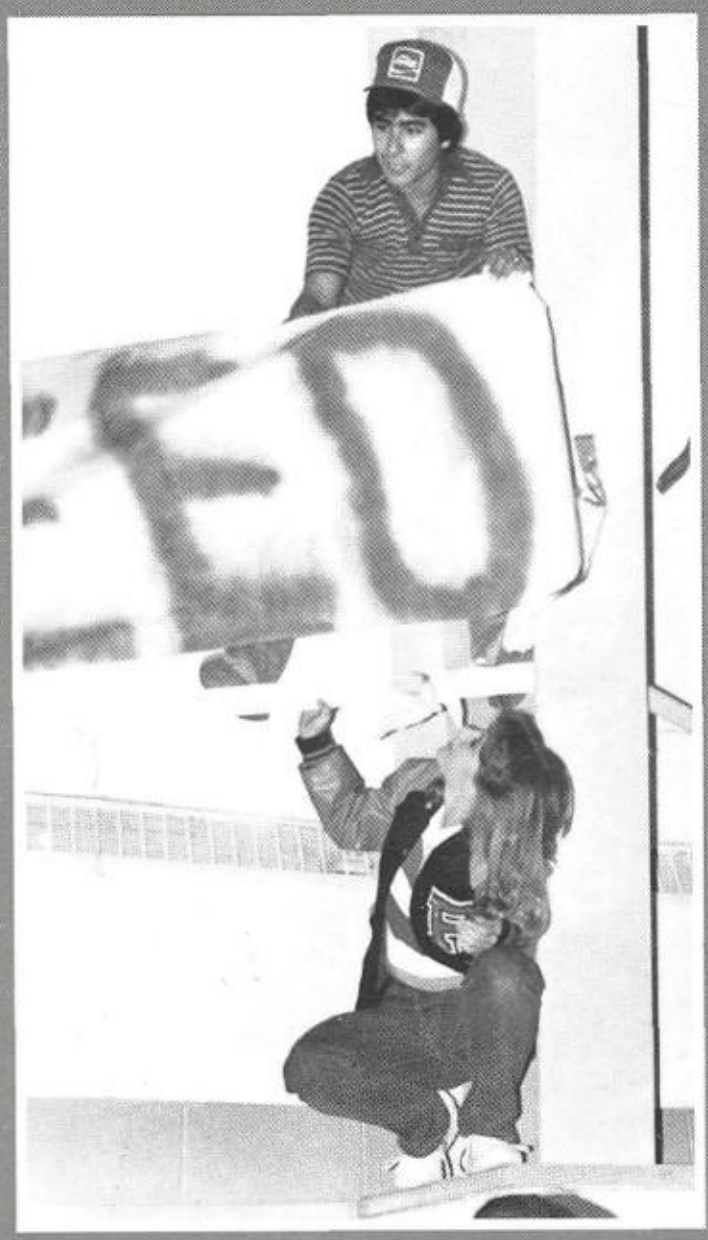


Determination- It's the one quality, except for a nonexistent intelligence, that all athletes must have. If you have the daring and stupidity to do things that anyone else would consider impossible or crazy, then you might find it to your advantage to try out for the team. Chad Kimble and Jim Garner.

The singular aspect of an athlete's behavior which prevents him from being thrown out of the stadium or gymnasium is his affability to his own teammates as well as the opposing teams. This quality also restrains the athlete from kicking the referee until after the game. Kristi Lear and Stephanie Lear .



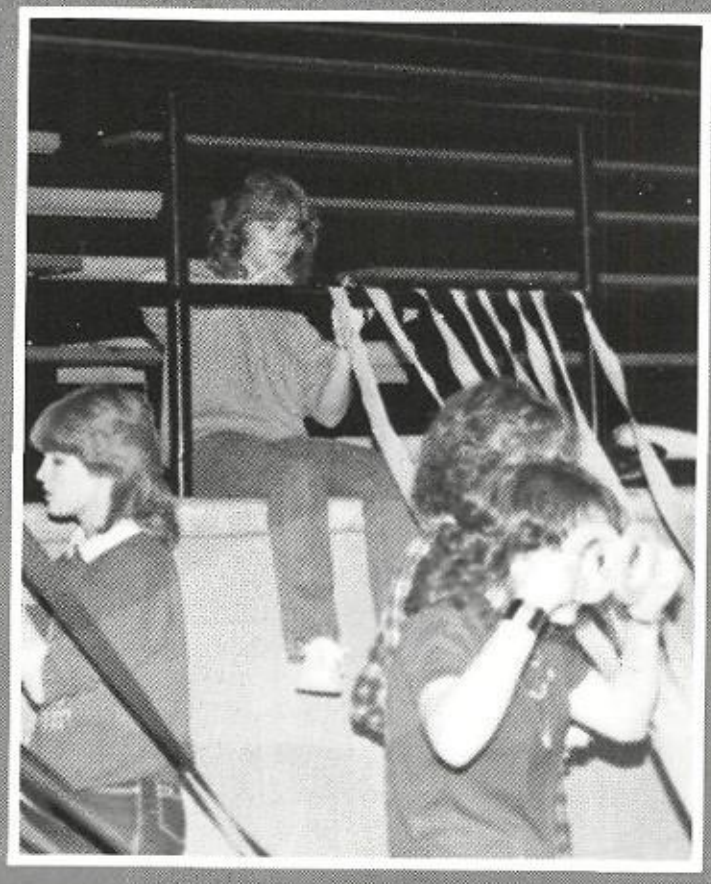




People

The people of Rider High School are the perfect example of individuality. Each person is unique in appearance, attitude, and ambition. The faculty and students were making decisions about New Directions in their life. Sometimes we did not realize that the opportunities we faced and how we handled them would affect our lives for years to come.

Friendship was an important part of our life. having friends to confide in about our problems or our joy was something that everyone found out they could not do without. Over the years, we will remember high school, and the people will make the memories special.



Administrators Guide Students

The student body at S.H. Rider High School is very lucky to have such a fine group of administrators. They are always around when needed, especially during this year marked by changes in the educational system. The administrators are always interpreting guidelines and supporting the students in their endeavors both at school and in the community.

Mr. Jack Robertson is serving his first year as principal at Rider. It is the consensus of the faculty and student body that he has done an excellent job. Mr. Robertson is present at every school activity to cheer for the Raiders. Also, he can always be seen with a smile on his face in the halls to make sure everything is running smoothly. Mr. Robertson's devotion to the Raiders is very important and special to all who are associated with Rider High School.

Dr. Lee Williamson, superintendent, and the Wichita Falls School Board play an integral part in the success of the Rider faculty and student body. With the best interests of students, the School Board and Dr. Williamson provide the guidance and leadership necessary to a quality education.

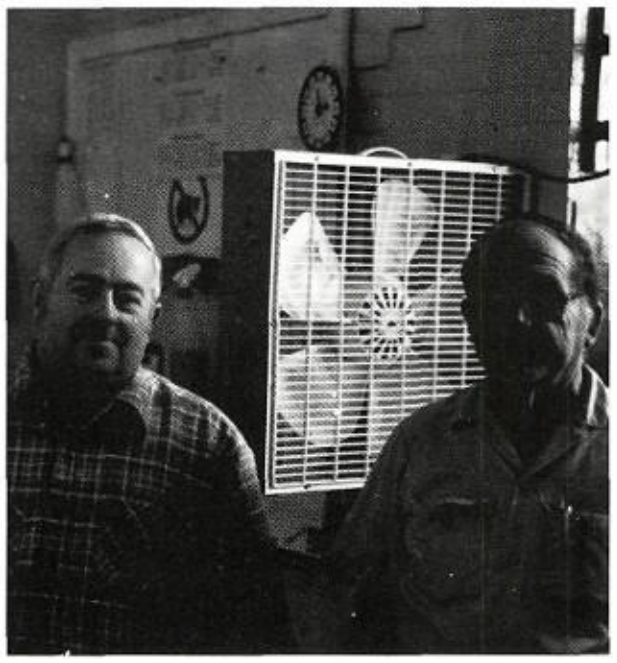
Without the help of the custodians, Rider High School would not be a very enjoyable place. They have the responsibility of not only keeping the grounds clean, but they also have the duty of maintaining the building. The first shift opens the building and keeps Rider clean while the students are here. The second shift is responsible for cleaning the classrooms and preparing them for the next day. The custodians do an excellent job in keeping Rider pleasant.



The cafeteria ladies can be seen each day at lunch with friendly smiles. Each day they arrive around seven a.m. to prepare lunch for approximately nine-hundred students. They leave around three p.m. each day. The cafeteria serves a variety of foods ranging from pizza to ice cream to lasagna.

Senior Memories . . .

We were filled with fear and excitement. We were beginning the time of our lives. Many new experiences lay in store as we tossed aside the Mustang-Bobcat rivalry and began to become Raiders. The fear soon faded and the excitement grew as each year passed, and our Raider Pride grew as well. We made lifelong friends and aquired memories which we will always cherish . . .

Our freshman year started us in a direction which would affect the next four years of our lives. We were nervous and scared as our moms dropped us off at the front door to begin our lives at Rider. Many experiences during the year made this one of the neatest ever . . . Our first pep rally, getting spirit sticks, initiations, dressing up on Fridays, our first Round Up, learning the Alma Mater,and becoming Raiders . . .

As sophomores we took one more step. We got more involved and grew more mature . . . Joining clubs, getting our driver's license, cruising Kemp, sitting on the West side at pep rallies, Scholastic Awards, district 5AAAAA football champs, starting new traditions, enduring the last few days of being lower classmen . . .

Our junior year was a special one. Finally upperclassmen, we set new goals and achieved new highs...Taking the PSAT, attending the Prom, laboring over term themes, joining annual staff and A Capella, Raider Crew and cheerleader tryouts, flaunting senior rings, district basketball champs, the victory breakfasts, Region football champs, feeling lost the last three days without the seniors . . .

As seniors we saw the end of our path fast approaching. We cherished each day, knowing that soon we would embark on an even greater journey . . . Finally getting air conditioning, essential elements, pep rallies on the floor, nominating Mr. and Miss Raider, taking the SAT and ACT, getting Coke machines, senior play, senior night, our last Coyote Week, being scared of things to come and trying not to show it . . .

Our years at Rider changed us, they helped us grow into individuals. The things we learned will shape our future and determine the directions we will take.

. . . Future Anticipations

Breaking Up

With almost every high school love affair there is a nderful time of love, friendship, excitement, and com- tments. These aspects of high school courtship are the ngs precious memories are made of. But life in love- d is not as all would wish it . . .

Boy: "I think we need to talk!" (thinks) But you're not ng to like the conversation.

Girl: "You're right, I don't feel the same about you." inks) You make me nauseous, actually!

Boy: "I don't want to hurt you." (thinks) At least not bad.

Girl: "I think it would be good for us to date other peo- ." (thinks) Especially that one other people by the me of Jake.

Boy: "I really think you're too good for me." (thinks) rtainly she doesn't believe that!

Girl: "We can still be friends." (thinks) With other peo- , that is.

The perils of breaking up — Jason Willett and Taryn Thompson.

Sophomore Transportation

t is not hard to distinguish the students of the phomore class from the rest of the student body of er High School. In fact it is quite easy to recognize m. Simply observe the parking lot after school. e crowd of people found here are sophomores who too young for a driver's license, but think they are old to ride the bus. These sophomores are trying bum a ride. When leaving school, beware of this p of underclassmen. They have been known to at- k people when asking for rides. Also, be sure to ck backseats, trunks, pickup beds, and under the d for sophomore stowaways.

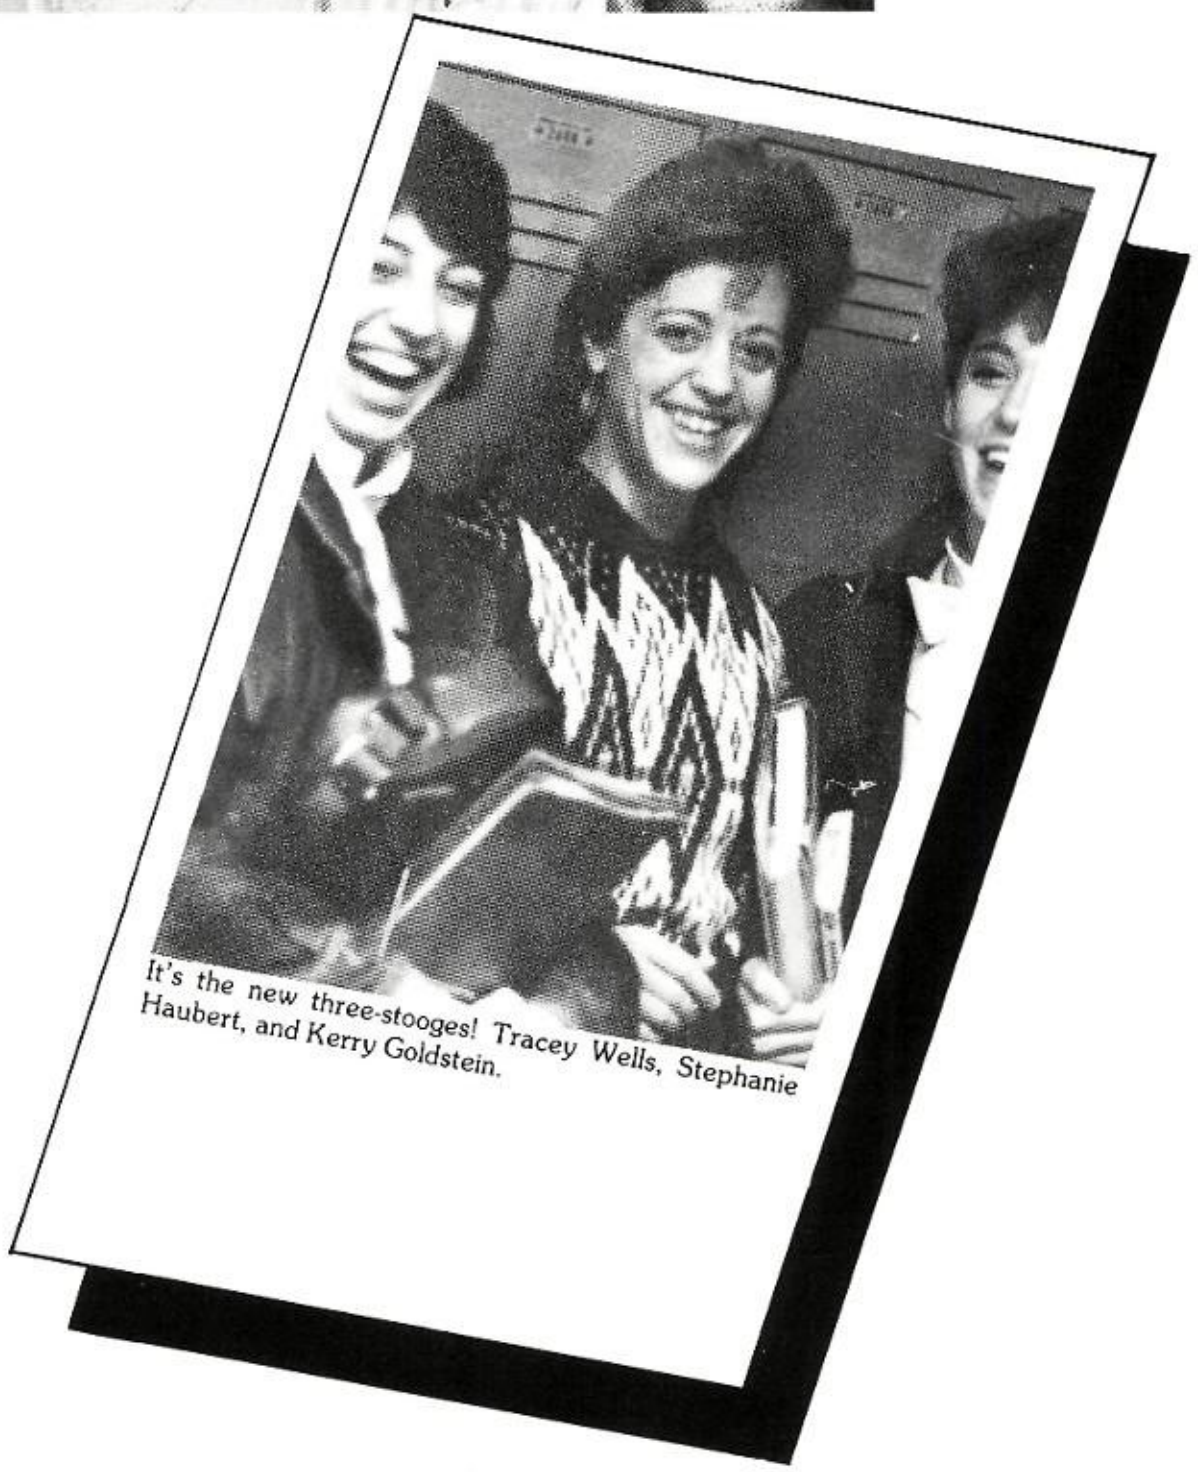
Best Friends

As a sophomore, you strengthen relationships that will last a lifetime. Time spent cheering at football games, struggling through English tests, cruising the hallways at lunchtime, and passing the latest gossip are things that best friends do together. Cruising the main drag Kemp Street, double dating, talking on the phone, and just bumming around together are some activities outside of school that best friends do together. Best friends are there when you need someone to talk to, yell at, and depend on for support. Sophomores are now increasing the bonds between best friends that will last a lifetime.



It's the new three-stooges! Tracey Wells, Stephanie Haubert, and Kerry Goldstein.

Sophomore Sniglets

What will they do next?

Incarpulation -The state that a sophomore finds himself in when he still doesn't have a license or a vehicle

Fostomalious -The feeling a sophomore guy gets because all the sophomore girls are going after older guys

Accellesophicus -The empty feeling experienced by sophomores who long to participate in activities restricted to upperclassmen such as varsity sports, goalpost,A cap, and Annual Staff

Sophsupremicy - The sophomore state of mind that he can rule the freshmen because he has one year experience over them

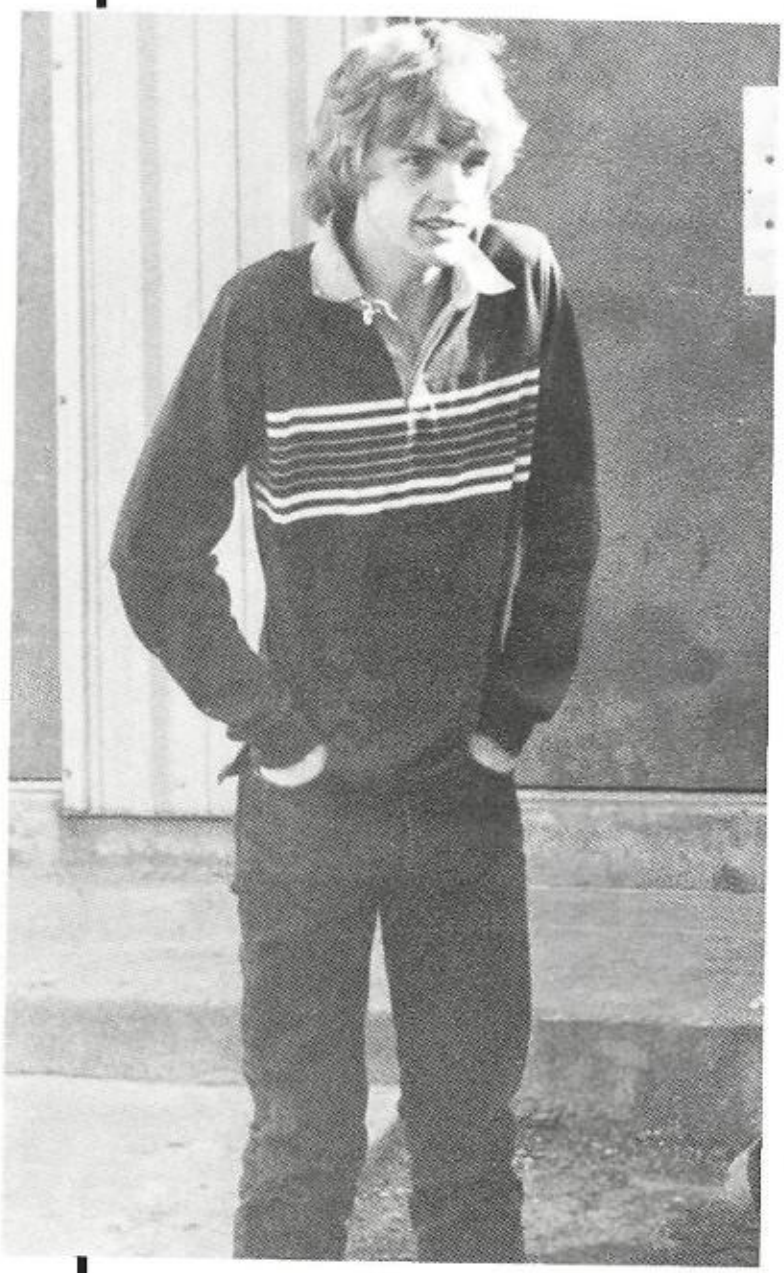
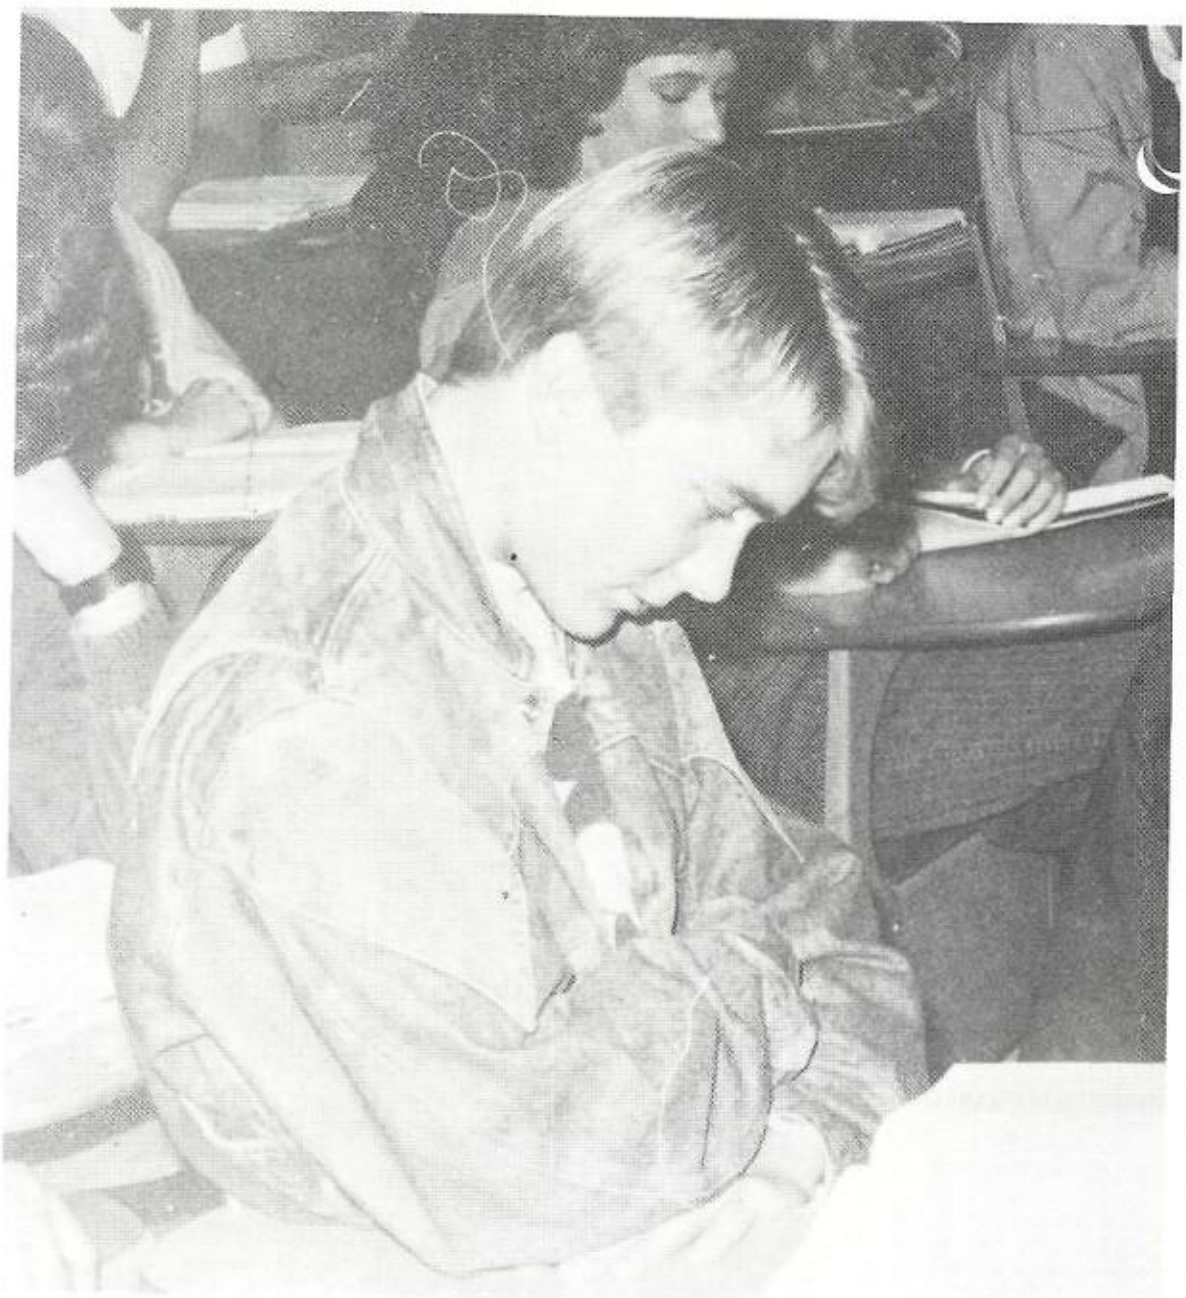
Tagonism - The idea of hanging around the Seniors and Juniors hoping everyone will think they are upperclassmen

Whatcha talkin' 'bout Matt? Matt Glenn Scott Wallace

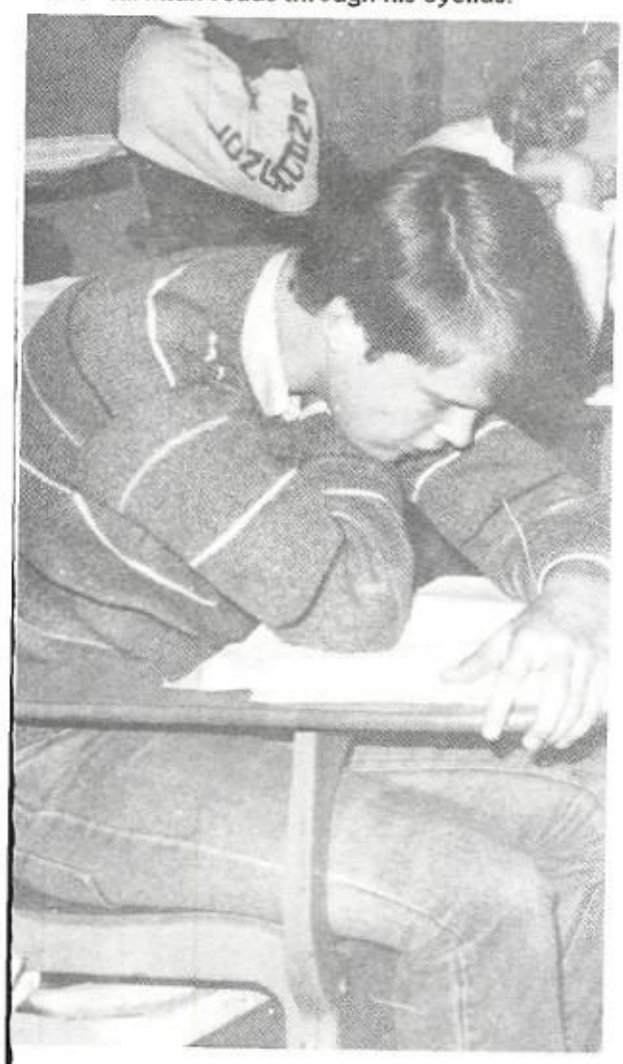


Cory Wrenn has the "501" blues.



Joe Wurster sleeps in class with his eyes open.

Chris Hartman reads through his eyelids.



Angela Hobbs and Marinda Burlison are smiling because they found a ride home.

Essential Elements

At the beginning of the school year, each teacher was given a list of essential elements to pound into their poor students' heads. Although the students complied to the rules, many "essential elements" were brought into view that some teachers did not know existed!

Teachers' List

1. No passing grade less than 70
2. Improve responsibility of pupil
3. Have lesson plans for each day
4. Improve the students study habits

Freshman List

1. Have a friend with a car
2. Convince the movie theater that you're still 12
3. Be a teachers' pet
4. Have your friends see you walk down the hall with a good looking girl

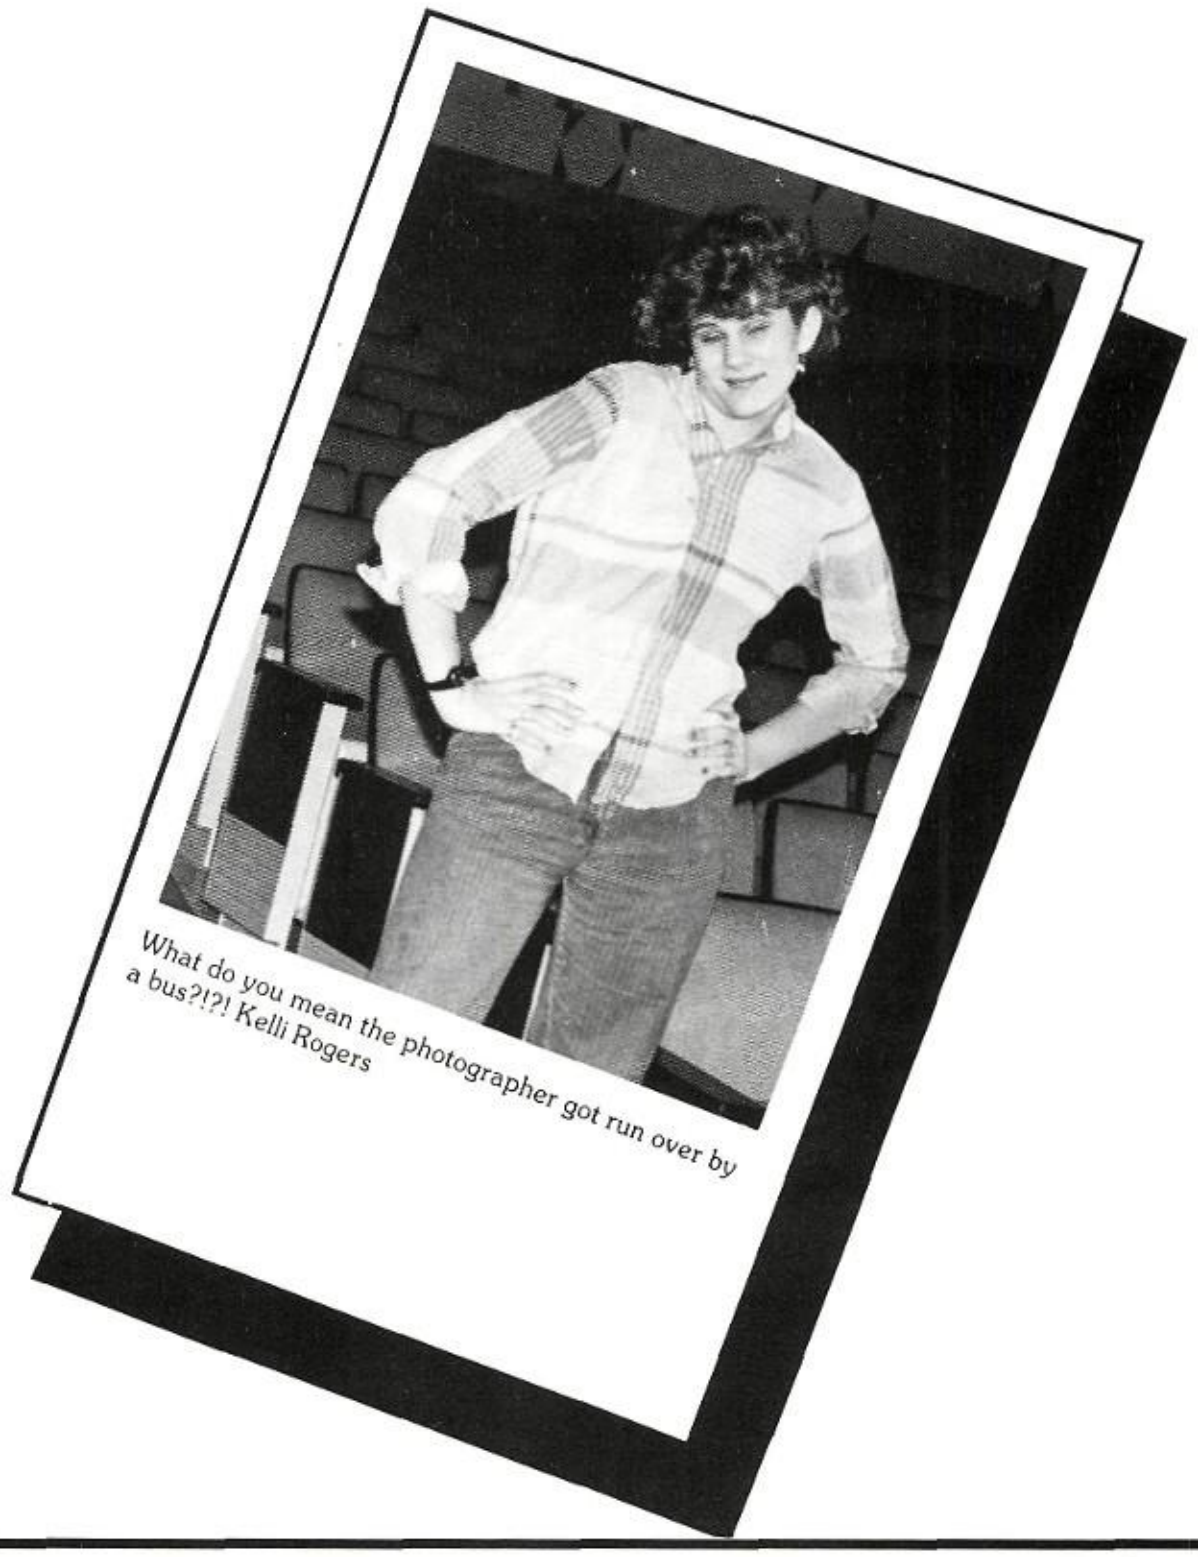
Picture Day at Rider High School

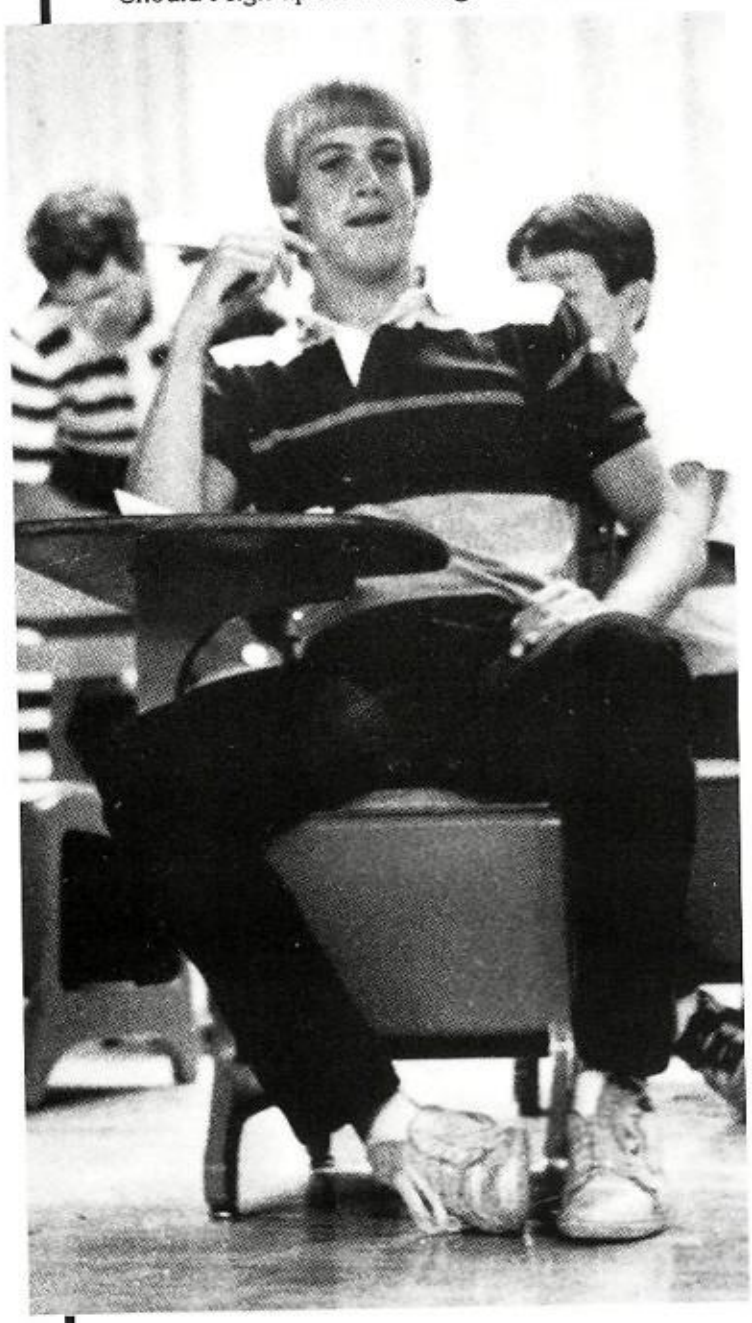
Murphy's Law: Everything that can go wrong, will go wrong.

The scene opens in a dark bedroom where you're quietly snoozing away unaware of the drama-filled day that awaits you. Suddenly your mother comes crashing through the door, throws your covers back, and in you ear screams that you have exactly 13 minutes and 29 seconds to get dressed, eat a well-balanced breakfast, and get to school in time for that notorious picture day. You stumble out of bed and drag yourself into the shower where mid-way through it the city decides to have a major hot-water shortage. After emerging as an icicle from your refreshing, Arctic shower, you proceed to blow-dry your hair. Because of the tremendous amount of energy required to use a blow-dryer and curling iron at the same time (I mean really!), the electricity shuts off leaving you, literally, in the dark. As you apply your makeup by the use of a flashlight, you notice that your naturally curly hair is hanging limply about your face. As you ponder on the reason for this unexplainable phenomenon, you hear the rumble of thunder in the distance...RAIN! What else can go wrong? You race back to the bedroom and throw on your wrinkled clothes, and as you race out to the car, the jelly on your toast dribbles down the front of your shirt. Tears form in your eyes as you watch your mother attempt to start the car, then roll down the window and inform you that you will have to ride your bicycle to school today. This has to be a nightmare! When you arrive at school, you hide your bike in the bushes and run to the student center. But, alas! It is deserted! You rush blindly into the annual staff room, stumbling absurdities, only to learn that...the picture is scheduled for tomorrow!

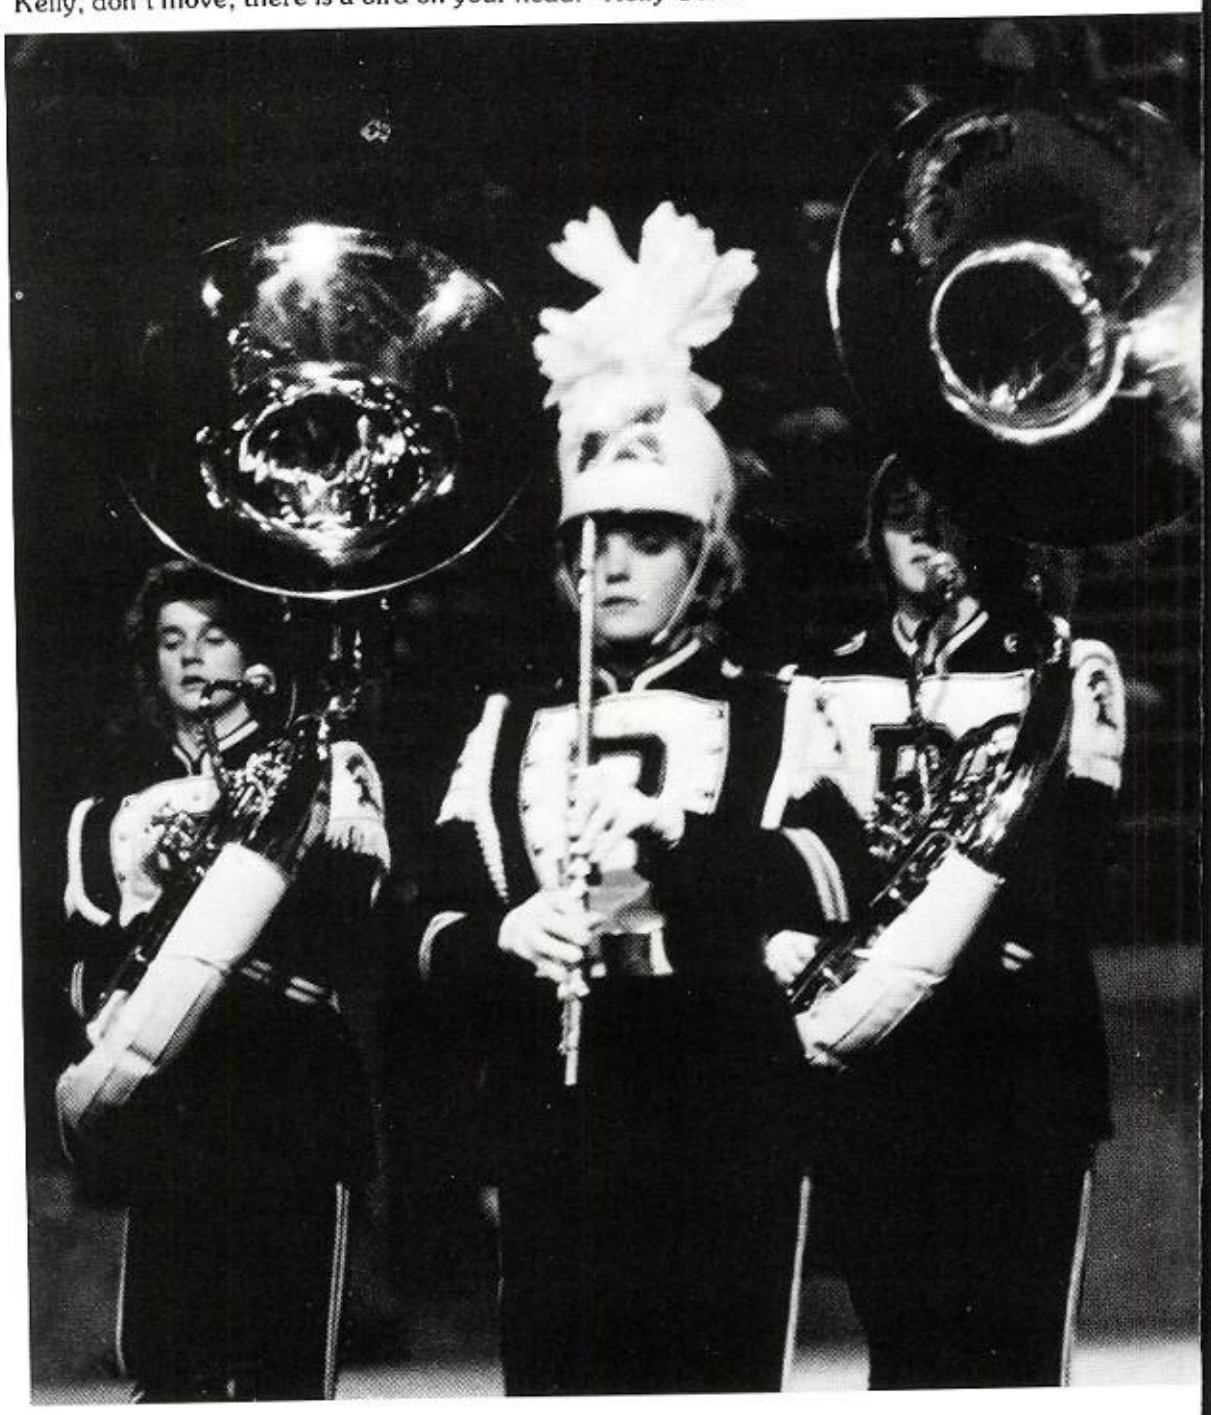


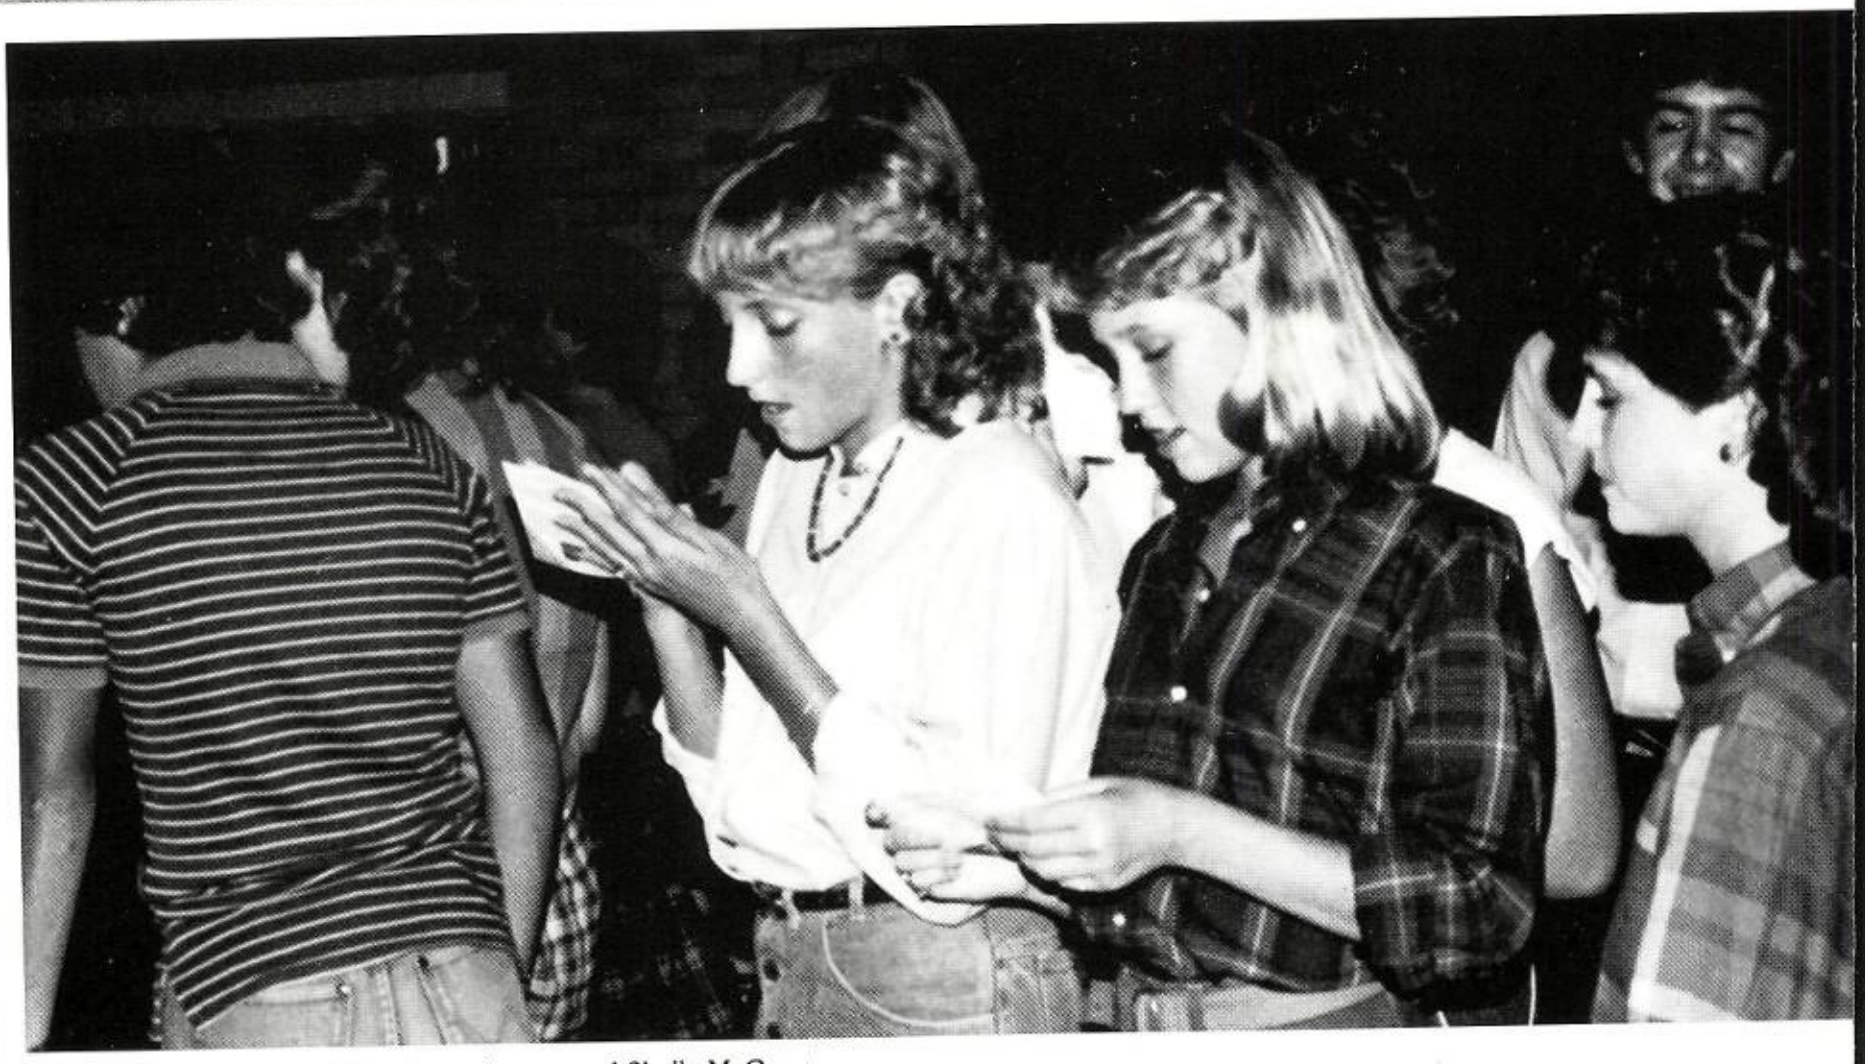
What do you mean the photographer got run over by a bus?!?! Kelli Rogers

Should I sign up for wrestling? - Ben Fincher



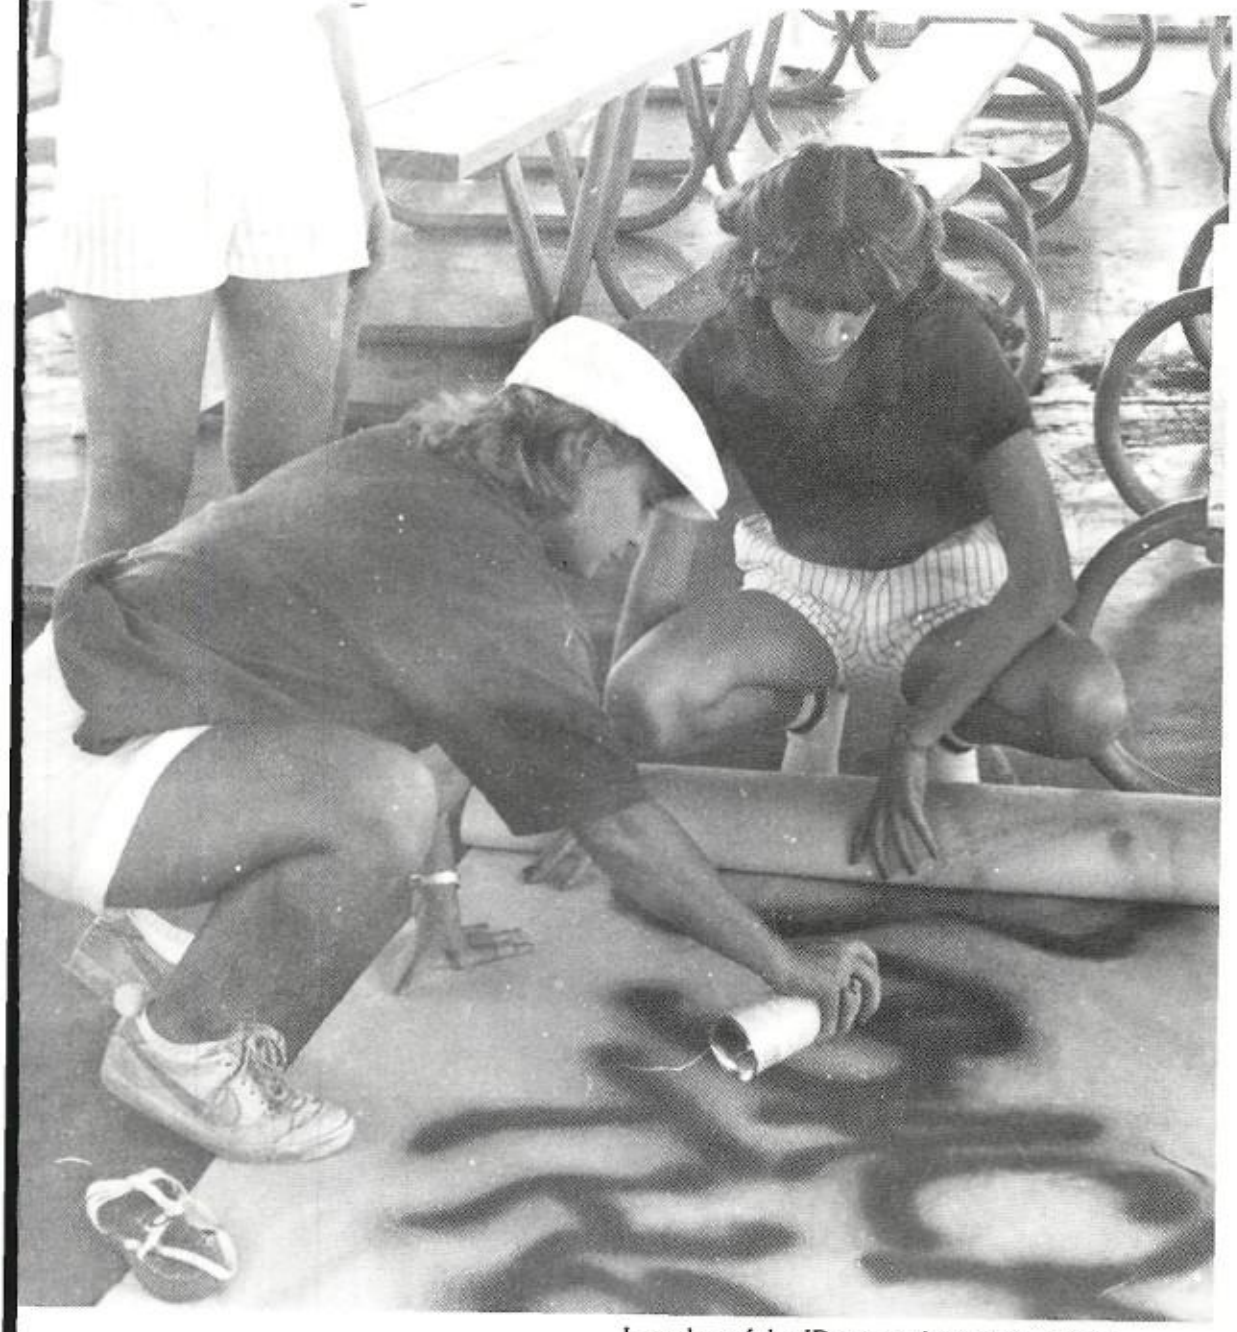
Kelly, don't move, there is a bird on your head. - Kelly Gerth



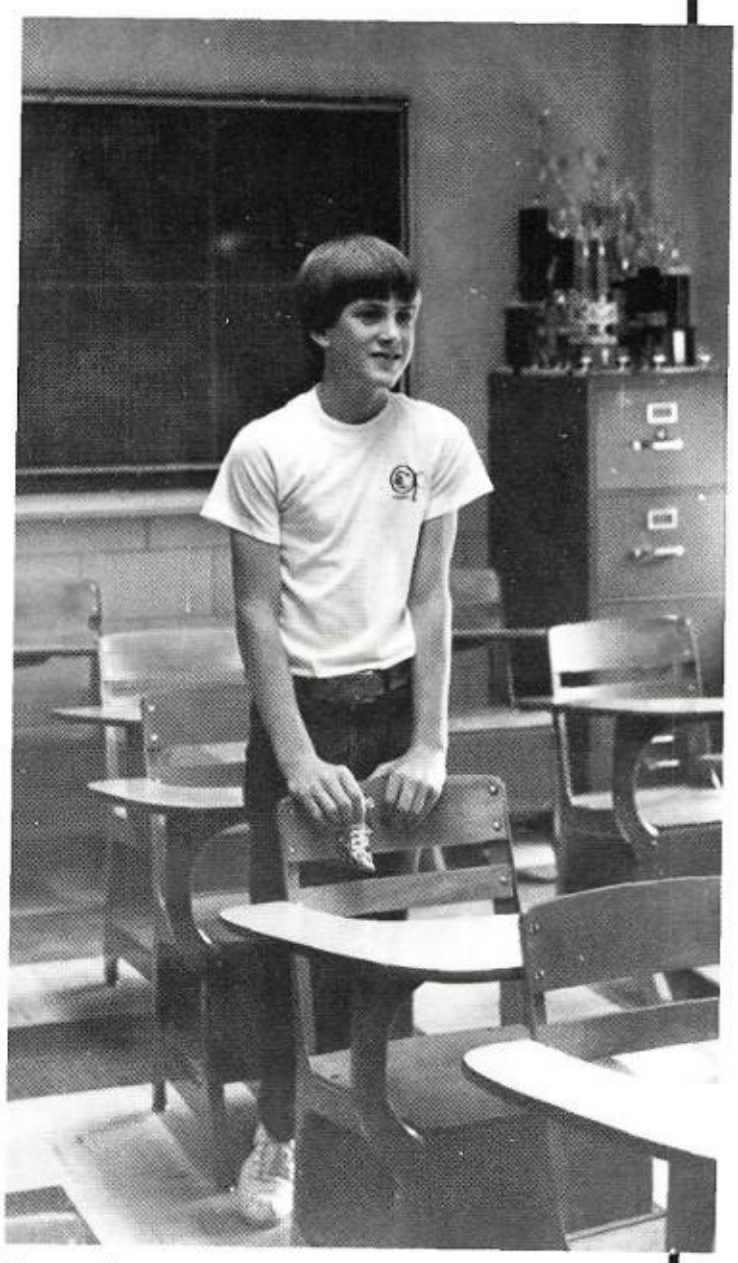


Who do you have for English? - Jenny Joyner and Shelly McCown

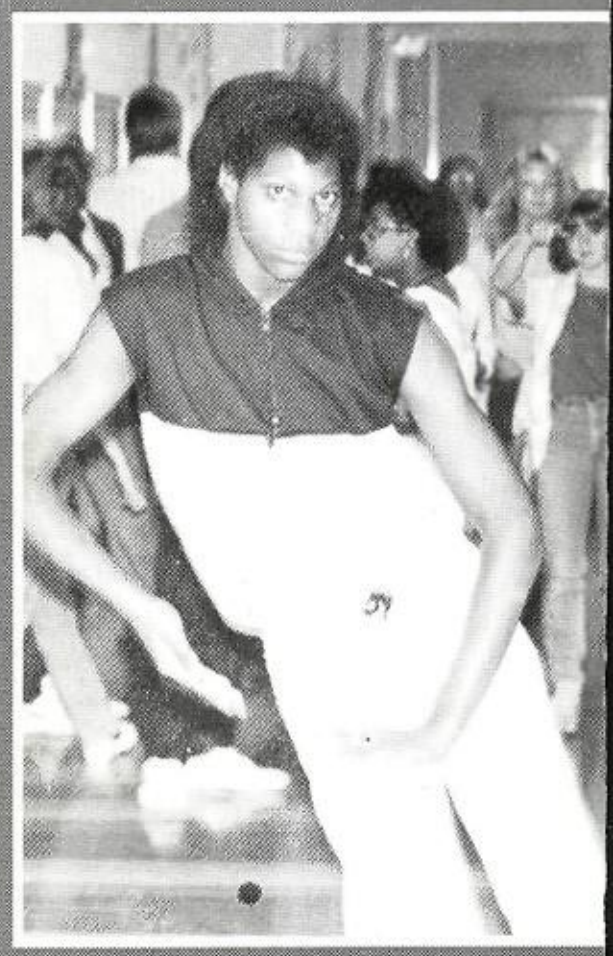
Just like grandma's "Home Cooking."

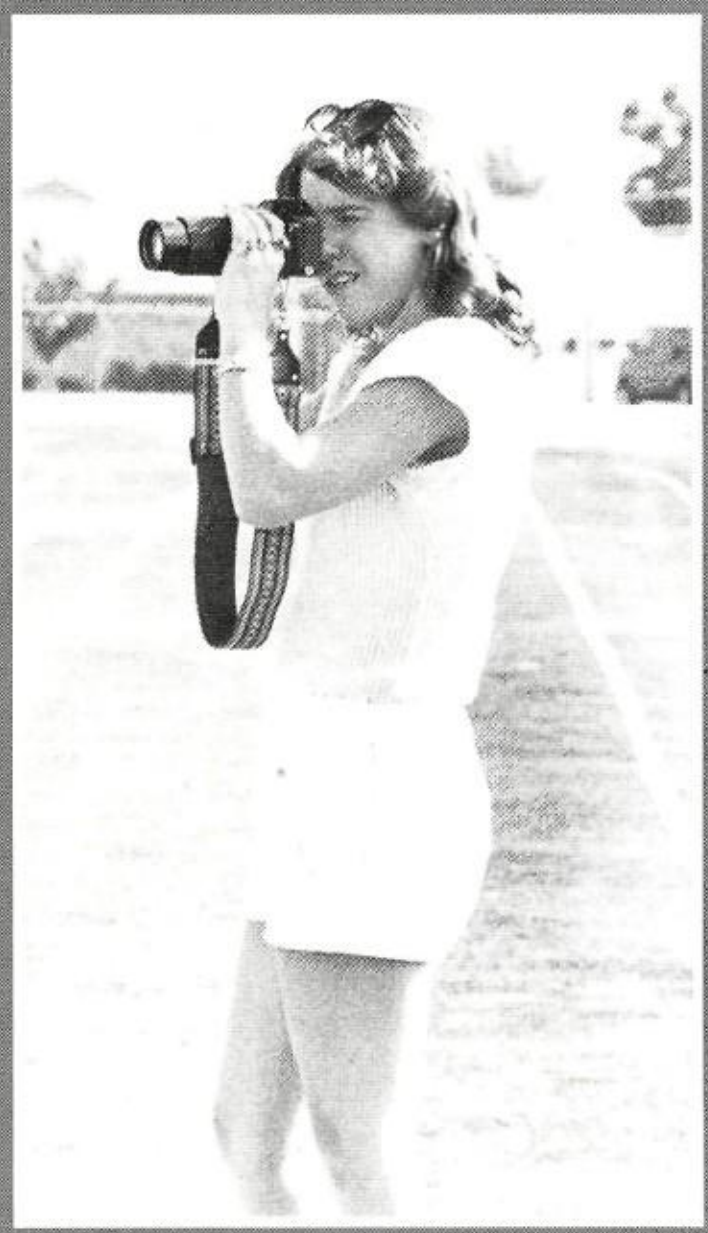


I used my fake ID to get the paint. - Buffy Lockard and Michelle Harris



You can have a quarter if you will pay me a nickel for the next six days.





Closing

As the old saying goes, all good things must come to an end. Looking back at the 1984-85 school year, we all have mixed feelings. This year will always be remembered as the year the state worked to upgrade the levels of education in Texas schools. The words "essential elements" will stick in our minds. This year was definitely tougher when it came to making the grades.

Other memories will be remembered, and we will laugh at such thoughts as how we dressed, our habits, and what we did for fun. Recalling the mistakes we made, we will see the directions we could have taken and they will help us to follow New Directions in our life. Through it all, however, we will remain Raiders. The memories will never be forgotten.

Some Last Thoughts

Dear Staff,

First of all I want to thank you for all the support I felt from you as a staff. Thank you for allowing me to be your editor! I have learned so much about myself through working with you.

We've finally finished! I remember all those crazy, mixed up times we've had as a staff. That computer should have its plug pulled! How dare it tell us it has shipped our page! After all- where would it ship it to? What about all the times we sifted through her desk looking for all our stuff? The pictures we had left out, grease pencils, and the nasty ink and stamper could nearly always be found among the mound called her desk. Also, the biggest headache of the year is over-features! No more last minute ideas will have to come from our minds!Now that we are through with lay-outs, we won't have to bribe or threaten another photographer. Just think, no more trips to Metro Photo and no more calls to Werner Studio!

Honestly, I have mixed feelings about it all being over. Now I can really appreciate our theme! Life is always taking us in new directions. It's up to us to choose which way to go. May you allow God to lead you in all your endeavors.

Love,

Patty

Now That the Annual is Finished-Who Will be Doing What?

1. Who will give the prayer at a presidential nomination dinner in the year 2000?
2. Who will go to college and become the typical pre-med student-the ones that think they are smarter than all the liberal arts majors?
3. Who will keep breaking hearts while looking for that special girl who is super gorgeous?
4. Who will giggle while standing at the altar on her wedding day?
5. Who will get caught dancing in front of the mirror when he thinks no one is looking?
6. Who will surprise us all by not falling in love with somebody from Henrietta?
7. Who will be remembered as the orphan annual staffer?
8. Who will be told another 1000 times- Examine your zipper!?
9. Who will be searched out by Chaka Khan to write the lyrics for one of their albums?
10. Who will write a book entitled Every Statistic Ever Recorded and Even Some Not Recorded in Sports ?
11. Who will attempt to build his own house because he likes to tinker with nails and boards?
12. Who will get a job working for the super glue corporation testing its strength when applied to teacher's desks?
13. Who will someday be freelancing in photography and see her work turn up in major magazines?
14. Who will remain Mr. T's faithful fan even after he has retired?
15. Who will take up stunt car driving as a hobby?
16. Who will begin teaching her children to spell when they come home from the hospital?
17. Who will maintain the ability to find anything that was "hopelessly lost" and discover hidden treasure some day?
18. Who will get a big break on HBO's Comedy Workshop and become the funniest comic around?
19. Who will never have call a TV repairman because he believes all a TV needs is a good bang on the top now and then to steady the horizontal?
20. Who will be the one the police always seem to catch speeding?
21. Who will remain innocent and marry a minister someday?
22. Who will drop out of college to start his own business?
23. Who will always show up right in the middle of things?
24. Who will get a job not because she needs to work, but because she loves to type?
25. Who will be a photographer in the peace corps or Ethiopia?
26. Who will play basketball in college and be a good sport about sitting on the bench as we cheer him on?
27. Who will use the expertise he learned during high school to open his own chain of designer supermarkets?

Jod,
you've been a total blast in Latin and in English (let's face it, we have languages in common or something!) Anyway,
I hope I see ya next year, and I hope you have a fun Summer! You're a very sweet + funny guy!
Love ya,
Kristy

Jod, you're a good dennis pal
Joan

Jod,
Who the *!&% is that!
Oh well it has been fun
Latin over this year in it of it has been Diffy.

Jod,
Alright, what's the deal!
You tryin' to buy All the books in Waldens or what? Here's to A Killer year in Latin. (Not necessarily because of the Latin!)
Jim Jolk

TINK.
TINK.

Tod,

I am glad I got to know you this year in Latin, ~~and~~ Physics, and Trig. You are a very nice guy. Good Luck in the future!

"Sr. 85"

Chrisanthe Papapavlou

Tod,

It has been great in Latin this year. If you ever need help in Latin just give me a call. Have a great summer.

Butt May

Jennis has been at Isip and Latin a blast. Have a great summer Shane.
